Chance Of Security Benefit Hike By July 1 Fades

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are fading fast that an increase in Social Security benefits will be in effect by July 1, the date suggested by President Johnson.

"Sept. 1 is a good date to think about," said one source deeply involved in the legislative handling of the bill.

Congress is considered certain eventually to pass some legislation aligning payments more closely with today's cost of living. But benefit increases probably will not be initially as generous as the 20 per cent average increase Johnson proposed, nor will the payroll tax increase be as steep as such a boost would require.

House Republicans are backing a limited increase now with provision for further rises later. Some key Democrats have expressed concern with the added tax burden on payrolls that the Johnson proposals involve.

The measure has been held back by a number of handicaps, including its own complexity.

The bill has run into a jammed schedule of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been in almost daily session for two months.

It is really a half-dozen bills in one, dealing also with administrative adjustments of the medicare program, limits on federally assisted state health care undertakings, a pilot dental program for children and aids for the training of social workers.

The Social Security bill also is to some extent entangled with the proposal for an income tax surcharge, now also a candidate for delay or even possibly withdrawal.

The administration is concerned that the timing of the two measures — one taking money out of the private sector of the economy, the other pumping it in — avoid any violent disruptions.

The Ways and Means Committee will not begin until late next week its private review of the legislation.

The panel estimates that job will take at least six weeks and will be interrupted by the necessity to consider the second bill this year to increase the national debt limit.

The outlook is for House action sometime in June. Then the whole process begins again in the Senate. Normally that body goes considerably beyond House-approved increases in Social Security, requiring conferences to design a compromise bill and another round of action in both houses.

Mental Hospital Escapee Sought In Rape Death

GRAND LEDGE (AP)—Police today pressed ahead with an intensive search for Donald O'Brien, an escapee from Ioni State Hospital wanted for questioning in the rape-murder of 10-year-old Rona Cypher.

"We understand he's not going to give up without a fight," said Police Chief William Eveleth.

Eveleth Thursday questioned a companion of O'Brien's, Donald Ringler, at the St. Joseph County Jail.

Ringler, 32, had turned himself in to police earlier that day at his mother's home in Sturgis. He and O'Brien, 40, of Pontiac, escaped March 26 from the Ionia Hospital's Division for the Criminally Insane.

Eveleth said Ringler told him O'Brien would not surrender peacefully.

Ringler claimed that O'Brien killed the Little girl Saturday night, Eveleth reported. The child's body was found in shallow waters of the Grand River late Saturday night.

Eveleth termed O'Brien a suspect, but added that while police are carrying out a thorough search for him, they also are checking on "two or three other suspects—people who are in and out of Grand Ledge."

Eveleth said the last report of O'Brien's whereabouts came Wednesday when a woman said she saw him south of Grand Ledge hitchhiking.

Skilled Trades Workers Favor A Labor Court

DETROIT (AP) — Delegates to the first International Society of Skilled Trades convention turned today to debate on a constitution after accusing industrial unions such as the United Auto Workers of "massive irresponsibility" in representing tradesmen.

Joseph W. Dunnebeck, the independent union's acting president and chief organizer, estimated 160 delegates were on hand and said they came from as far away as California.

Dunnebeck declined anew to state his union's membership, but estimated some 70 per cent of the delegates came from ranks of the UAW. He boasted his union could "shut down the automobile industry tomorrow."

The UAW has scoffed at Dunnebeck's claims. It says they are grossly exaggerated.

As presented, the society's proposed constitution would give officers terms of four years and would require after Jan. 1, 1972, that they be five-year society members.

A section setting pay scales for a president, secretary, treasurer, vice president, senior representatives and executive council members was left blank to be filled in by the convention.

As drafted, the constitution propose monthly dues of "not less than $5."

Contending that "massive irresponsibility ... has been displayed by the industrial unions with regards to the skilled trades," the society said that "conditions as they exist now, are bad beyond imagination."

It said wage rates for the skilled vary as much as $2 per hour in different areas of the country, and urged that lines of demarcation be established for various trades.

Dunnebeck's delegates called for congressional enactment of a pending bill that would establish a federal labor court to replace the National Labor Relations Board. They claimed "justice and fair play are much more readily available in court than in an administrative agency."

Romney Likely To Back LBJ's Policies In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney confronts tonight the biggest issue yet facing his unannounced bid for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination — the war in Vietnam.

All signs point to a general endorsement of President Johnson's war policies — as an unpleasant but necessary task — spiced with criticism of the way the administration has sought peace and internal stability in South Vietnam.

Romney is to discuss Vietnam at a dinner in Hartford, Conn., marking the 150th anniversary of the Hartford Times.

The governor already has said he will offer no specific alternatives, discuss no tactics, Romney said he will outline his basic view, and that is all.

Nor will he discuss that view, before or after he outlines it. "I don't intend to let a lot of reporters divert attention from what I have to say," Romney said Wednesday.

What Romney has to say is crucial to his embryo campaign for White House nomination in 1968 simply because, since emerging as a potential candidate, he has refused to take a position.

While he has harshly criticized Johnson at times, Romney's standard answer to questions about Vietnam has been that he had the subject under thorough examination.

Romney announced three weeks ago he was ready to talk in Hartford tonight. That announcement — said to have startled some of his own assistants — cast political attention on his speech.

The governor plans a trip to Vietnam this year. He has consulted diplomats, politicians, Senate speeches and liberal-minded Republican senators in his quest for information.

Ridicule

Governor Romney's talk tonight in Hartford on Vietnam war policy drew ridicule Thursday from a Democrat who was in turn accused of improper conduct.

Senator Roger Craig (D-Dearborn) said "It is a momentous day, not only for Michigan, but for the entire United States, because our governor, the great George Romney, will share with us his ultimate solutions to the Vietnam War."

Of Romney's statement that he would not answer newsmen's questions after his speech, Craig said: "We who know and love the governor know that he is not afraid that he will again blow his cool. He merely does not wish to have anything detract from the profundity of his remarks."

Majority Floor Leader Robert Vander Laan (R-Grand Rapids) retorted: "It is a disgrace to this Senate to make light of and to humorously describe the most tragic event in the '60s. All Americans, including the President, would like to see this war come to an honorable conclusion. Gov. Romney is included among these and we should welcome his attempts to offer solutions."

Employers Hike Offer In Truck Industry Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators pressed for nearly round-the-clock talks today between the Teamsters Union and the trucking industry in an effort to reach a national contract agreement.

Sources reported some progress in the all-night negotiations that ended at 4:30 a.m. today. More talks are scheduled for 1 p.m.

Trucking Employers Inc., reported it had raised its offer of a three-year wage increase to 44 cents an hour from its previous 37-cent offer. But the union reportedly had not significantly dropped from its last reported demand of 56 cents an hour.

Numerous fringe benefits, working conditions and new trucking equipment demanded by the union also are involved in the negotiations.

The Teamsters national contract covering 450,000 workers in 12,000 firms represented by trucking employers expired at midnight last Friday. The union has been free to strike since then.

But trucking industry officials have threatened to counter with a lockout at 1,500 of the nation's biggest companies if the Teamsters strike even a few of the firms.

Chief federal mediator William E. Simkin told both sides it is vital to the nation's interest for them to continue talks and trucking operations until a contract agreement is reached.

At Simkin's insistence, the negotiators remained at the bargaining table from 10 a.m. Thursday until recessing early today, breaking only for meals.

Government officials continued efforts to head off a threatened strike by six shopcraft unions next Wednesday against 138 railroads. Among those meeting with both sides Thursday was Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The unions reportedly want a 7 per cent pay increase plus additional increases for higher skilled men among the 135,000 workers involved. The railroads are offering a 5 per cent hike recommended by a presidential advisory board.

"It doesn't look good," reported one source.

MISS CORAZON AMURAO, 25, who survived by hiding under bed when eight of her fellow student nurses were slain in Chicago last July, arrives at court in Peoria, Ill. to testify, escorted by a bailiff. Richard Speck is on trial charged with killing the eight girls. (AP Wirephoto)

Chicago Officer Tells Of Finding Nurses' Bodies

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A Chicago detective has told how he found the bodies of eight murdered nurses as the prosecution presses a fast-moving chronological display of evidence in the trial of alleged mass killer Richard Speck.

Detective Jack Wallenda's testimony came Thursday after the defense concluded an unexpectedly brief cross-examination of Corazon Amurao.

Miss Amurao, 24, the Philippine exchange nurse who survived the slaughter, identified Speck, 25, as the killer Wednesday.

Wallenda, a 14-year veteran of the police force, testified he was the first detective to arrive at the house on Chicago's South Side.

Finds Bodies

"In the front east bedroom, I found the bodies of three girls," Wallenda said, and identified them as Pamela Wilkening, Suzanne Farris and Mary Ann Jordan.

He continued: "Miss Wilkening had white cloth stuffed in her mouth and a strip of cloth was wrapped very tightly around her neck and knotted twice in the back. She had a stab wound in her left breast.

"A brown blanket covered the upper portion of Miss Farris' body. A nurse's stocking was knotted around her neck and a strip of cloth was wrapped around her wrists."

Miss Jordan clutched in her right hand a strip of cloth, Wallenda said. She was stabbed four times.

"In the west bedroom, there was a body of one female lying on the bed and two bodies on the floor," Wallenda related.

Tied With Cloth

Nina Schmale was on the bed, Wallenda said she was stabbed four times in the neck and a strip of white cloth was double knotted around her neck.

The policeman described the two Philippine victims, Valentina Pasion and Merlita Gargullo, who were on the floor. A double-knotted strip of cloth was around Miss Gargullo's neck. Miss Pasion was face down, her ankles bound.

Wallenda added: "I observed the body of a female lying on the floor of the bathroom, face up. She was Patricia Matusek. Her hands were tied with a strip of white cloth, another strip was knotted tightly around her neck.

"In the living room was the body of a nude female on the couch. She was Gloria Davy. A strip of cloth was around her neck. It was double knotted in the back."

William Martin, the chief prosecutor, asked Wallenda if the strips around the neck, wrists and ankles of the victims were tied with different knots.

"No, they were not," Wallenda replied.

Questions Lighting

Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who is Speck's counsel, cross-examined Miss Amurao gently. He passed quickly over the details of the four hours during which the girl, hiding under a bed, watched her friends taken to their deaths.

Getty spent some time quizzing her on the lighting in the rooms where she said she saw Speck.

Getty concentrated on throwing doubt on the description of the assailant that she gave to a police artist.

He asked Miss Amurao if her first description of the intruder was "a man, 25 years of age, 6 feet tall, short or crew cut hair, no hat, wearing a waist-length jacket, dark pants."

The girl replied, "I did not say 'crew cut,' sir."

The police artist sketch showed a man with a crew cut. Getty alleges that Speck wore his blond hair long on July 14.

San Rafael's Pet Seal Now AWOL

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — It was bad enough that the kids made fun of Alice because, only three years old, she weighed 150 pounds.

But when her guardians emptied her pool and started poking needles in her, Alice took off.

Lawrence Lindberg, a director of the Louise Boyd Natural Science Museum, emerged from a board meeting to spot Alice waddling down the road. By the time he had summoned other directors Alice had crossed a bridge, slipped into a creek and on out into the San Rafael Canal.

A combined search Thursday by the sheriff's marine patrol, the Coast Guard and museum friends failed to turn up any trace of the city's pet seal.

Spells Trouble For Johnson's Surtax Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate in more than 6½ years could spell more trouble for the administration's plan for a 6 per cent surtax on corporate and most individual incomes.

The board, in a dramatic move Thursday which could signal a further general easing of credit and lower interest rates, dropped the discount rate from 4.5 to 4 per cent over most of the country effective today.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the action should reinforce opposition to the surtax plan designed partly to stem inflationary pressure expected by government economists later this year.

Proxmire said softening business conditions demanded the unanimous action taken Thursday by the board for 10 of its 12 districts. Although the Atlanta and St. Louis districts failed to seek a lower discount rate, they are expected to follow suit.

Mistake To Up Taxes

If government policy now is aimed at stimulating the economy, Proxmire said, "it would be a mistake to shove up taxes that would discourage business expansion at the same time we reduce interest rates to encourage business."

The Treasury Department welcomed the discount action as a sign of a "desirable further easing of credit availability and interest rate levels." The administration has sought lower interest rates.

Some government experts said the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.

A lowering in the discount rate normally means lower interest rates for businessmen seeking loans and for consumers buying houses, automobiles and other goods on the installment plan.

Cuts Borrowing Cost

Just how fast the lower discount rate might be felt on consumer loans is open to conjecture. One New York banker said loan demand still is good but in time consumers should be able to borrow money more cheaply.

The discount rate is the charge made by the Federal Reserve for funds borrowed by its more than 6,000 member banks to improve their reserve positions. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

The board said its action was in line with recent declines in interest rates and in keeping with its policy of assuring enough credit to permit orderly economic growth.

Banks have already lowered their prime lending rate from last year's peak 6 per cent to 5.5 per cent. This is the rate banks charge their most favored customers, usually corporations, for loans.

Reapportions

ALLEGAN (AP) — Supervisors in Allegan County Thursday agreed on apportioning the county into 21 districts with each supervisor representing about 3,000 people. The county now has 38 supervisors.

Under the plan, cities and villages in the county would be represented by nine supervisors and townships by 12.

The commission studied five plans, two calling for 21 districts, and others for five, 10 and 14 districts, according to Commission Chairman Grover Grigsby.

Mother Thankful For Safe Return Of Son

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The mother of 11-year-old Kenneth Young, a kidnap victim now safe at home after a 72-hour ordeal and payment of $250,000 ransom, says of her son's abductor: "I feel sorry for the man — out there being hunted. If I saw the man, I would thank him for returning my son home alive and well."

Arline Young made the comment Thursday night at a news conference in the family's expensive home, once owned by film star Deanna Durbin. This was the first meeting with newsmen for Kenny, who wore a baseball cap over his shaved head.

Impatient about photographs but anxious to relate details of his kidnaping, he disclosed that apparently only one man was involved.

Flashing a shy smile, Kenny said, "I didn't feel chicken about it. On the first day, he said I would be home Wednesday night.

"I wasn't scared except when he showed me the gun."

Consistently referring to his abductor only as "he," the financier's son told of the food given him.

"I didn't like it. He fed me TV dinners — meat loaf. He forced it down me."

Then he described the shaving of his head, a mancuver apparently designed to make the tape of a blindfold stick better.

KENNETH YOUNG, above, 11-year-old son of Beverly Hills, Calif., financier, was returned home safely after $250,000 ransom was paid to his kidnappers, authorities said. He is the son of Herbert J. Young, 35, president of Gibraltar Savings & Loan Association. The FBI said the kidnapers are still at large. (AP Wirephoto)

County Board To Reorganize

The Board of Supervisors of Delta County will seat at least one new member when it meets to reorganize for 1967-68 Tuesday at the Delta County Building.

Jerome Stannard of Ford River Township will replace Phil Miron, who is retiring from office after choosing not to seek reelection last year.

Supervisors from Gladstone are expected to be named at a meeting of the City Commission Monday night. They must include the Mayor and the City Assessor and two other members of the City Commission.

Besides Assessor Robert Olson, current members of the Board from Gladstone are Raymond Norton, Frank Stupak and George Young.

According to the tentative agenda prepared by County Clerk William E. Butler, the Board will also elect a chairman and chairman pro-tem, elect one member of the Building Authority, appoint a new Finance Committee and the dog warden, and hear reports from the County Road Commission, Pinecrest Medicare Facility, and the Ways and Means Committee. Reports on equalization, progress of the county master plan, reapportionment and social services are also scheduled.

The County Democratic Committee will present a request for a juvenile detention home for the county and the Board will also consider granting a concession agreement for Pioneer Trail Park.

Witnesses Mum In Wiretap Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) —Elijah Mays, a former employe of the Detroit Police Department, declinded Thursday to answer a Senate Judiciary subcommittee's detailed questions in its wiretap probe, saying he feared for his safety.

Another witness, Albert Normali, a retired Detroit police officer, refused to reply on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him.

A third witness, Vincent Piersante, now chief investigator of the Michigan attorney general's office and for years a member of the Detroit Police Department, answered some questions on wiretap matters but declined to answer others on grounds he is a defendant in a $3.5 million lawsuit.

The subcommitte, headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., is considering a bill to tighten up the use of wiretaps and other electronic listening devices.

Police Phone Bugged

When Mays was called to the witness stand Long asked him if he felt there would be danger to his personal safety if he testified.

"I do so," Mays replied.

"Unless you want to make a statement, the committee will not put you in jeopardy," Long said.

"I well know both sides of the law," Mays said, adding that if he talked his statements would involve naming other people.

However, under questioning, Mays said he found a wiretap on a phone of the superintendent of police. The tap ran to the office of the police commissioner, he said.

He told of finding the tap, Mays said, and was told to keep his mouth shut. He didn't say whom he had talked to.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., asked Mays if he feared the police authorities or others, and Mays replied:

"Both the authorities know what I know and the underworld knows what I know," he said. "Who do you think I should help"

"The authorities," Hart replied.

Involved In Suit

When Normali was called to testify, his attorney, Raymond G. Larroca, told the committee that Normali was a technician but was involved in a suit dealing with eavesdropping and wiretapping.

Piersante, who retired as chief of detectives in February, related various instances where, he said, wiretaps had been set up.

Piersante said he had never acquired electronic gear from the Justice Department.

The subcommittee ended three days of hearings on Detroit cases and recessed subject to the call of the chairman.

National Guard Units To Drill

About 50 men from the 4th and 5th platoons of the 1437th Engineer Bridge Co., Michigan National Guard, Gladstone, will participate in drills Saturday and Sunday and again Monday night.

Drills Saturday and Sunday will begin at 7:30 a. m.

Weapons qualification tests at the rifle range west of the Gladstone Golf Club will be conducted under the supervision of S. Sgt. F. H. Dahlgren. All men will be required to fire qualifying rounds.

Capt. Ronald G. Patrick said that all bridge equipment and vehicles will have full maintainence completed under the supervision of Platoon Sgt. Lloyd Russell and 1st Sgt. Robert Miller.

Monday night's drill will include instruction on bridge construction by Dahlgren.

North Central Has Best Year; Keeps Officers

All directors of North Central Airlines were re-elected at the company's annual stockholders' meeting April 15.

Re-elected directors were Hal N. Carr, Minneapolis, chairman; D. E. Crooker, Ontonagon; G. F. DeCoursin, Dallas; Chan Gurney, Yankton, S. D.; A. James Mueller and Joseph E. Rapkin, Milwaukee; Samuel H. Maslon, Jay Phillips, Morton B. Phillips and H. P. Skoglund, Minneapolis; Kenneth B. Willett, Stevens Point, Wis.; and Robert G. Zeller, New York.

Carr reported that in 1966 the company earned $1,154,611, the largest profit in its 19-year history, on record revenues of $39,612,671.

North Central reached the all-time high for regional airlines by enplaning 2,056,209 passengers, a gain of 27 per cent over 1965, which was the company's best previous year. The 52 million pounds of cargo flown was 28 per cent ahead of 1965.

Directors re-elected corporate officers: Carr, chairman of the board and president; R. H. Bendio, vice president; L. J. Keely, vice president-maintenance and engineering; T. M. Needham, vice-president-ground operations; Arthur E. Schwandt, vice president-industrial relations; G. F. Wallis, vice president-flight operations; Daniel F. May, treasurer; John P. Dow, secretary. Bernard Sweet, former vice president-finance, was elected executive vice president.

South Vietnam Issues Threat To Bomb Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's chief of state threatened today to bomb Hanoi or invade North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese don't stop attacking the South Vietnamese half of the demilitarized zone.

The threat by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu came in the wake of a Communist attack on a South Vietnamese border post as well as the raid Thursday by perhaps 2,000 North Vietnamese troops on the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. planes attacked Communist missile sites Thursday within the defense ring surrounding Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port. Two of the sites attacked were only five and seven miles from Haiphong.

Destroyers Hit

Just south of Haiphong, two U.S. destroyers, the Waddell and the Duncan, were hit by Red shore batteries Thursday. But the Navy said there were no casualties and damage to the ships was light.

Thieu said Communist attacks in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam are a deliberate violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement, and South Vietnam "reserves the right to retaliate in any form to protect itself."

Asked what form the retaliation might take, Thieu said Hanoi might be bombed or South Vietnamese troops could be sent into the North.

"Self Defense"

"And these actions must be considered as self-defense," he added.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Quang Tri today to survey the damage from the latest Red attacks south of the Ben Hai bridge, which marks the border between North and South Vietnam and is the dividing point between the northern and southern halves of the demilitarized zone.

Ky's government filed a protest with the International Control Commission charging that North Vietnamese soldiers moved across the bridge Wednesday, forcing South Vietnamese civilian police to abandon their post at the southern end of the bridge.

Reds Violate Zone

The government said South Vietnamese artillery opened up on the Communist force and the steel girder bridge. It said eight rounds hit the bridge, but it remained passable to traffic.

The United States and South Vietnam have charged the Reds with repeatedly violating the demilitarized zone and infiltrating troops through it into the South. U.S. intelligence also reports that some 35,000 regular North Vietnamese troops are now in and around the zone.

Thursday, the Communists followed up the crossing of the Ben Hai bridge with a series of attacks on Quang Tri City, which is about 10 miles below the zone on the main north-south highway. These attacks hit a regimental command post at Quang Tri City, other South Vietnamese posts and a number of American installations in the city. Ten U.S. military advisers were killed and nine wounded.

The Red force penetrated within the city and was there for much of the day. They opened the gates of the city prison and freed about 250 prisoners of war.

Spread Eagle Candidate Wins At Last In Florence

SPREAD EAGLE, Wis. — If you don't think the residents of this resort area are happy, just ask any of them. There's a good reason.

When the votes were tabulated Tuesday night in the Town of Florence election, Gerold (Jerry) Scott, of Spread Eagle was elected one of the town supervisors.

It means that for the first time in over 70 years of existence, the area of Spread Eagle will have a voice in the Town of Florence government for which it provides far more than 50 per cent of the taxes for the town operation.

All through the years, Spread Eagle hasn't been able to buy, beg or steal a voice in the Town of Florence government which has been monopolized by the community of Florence. In past years it has been useless for a Spread Eagle candidate to seek office because of a perennial "black-ball" from Florence voters who outnumbered the electors in the resort area.

Years Of Frustration

In Tuesday's election, Scott defeated incumbent Edmund Johnson by a 238-217 margin. The last try for a Spread Eagle candidate for the Town of Florence board was two years ago, when Gus Spera was defeated.

Why the change in the Town of Florence voting pattern? There are several reasons, according to residents of Spread Eagle who over the years have become frustrated over taxation without representation.

First, Scott was born and raised in Florence, now lives at Spread Eagle and is in business in Iron Mountain. During the years he had acquired many friends in the Florence area. Two, the number of permanent residents at Spread Eagle is increasing yearly. Three voters in Florence are breaking away from the 'old regime' with the realization that Spread Eagle carries the tax burden and deserves a voice in government.

That's the feeling of the happy residents of Spread Eagle.

Battling For Years

Spread Eagle and Florence have been battling for years over the issue and the last big fight resulted in a short-lived government for Spread Eagle, but a final victory for Florence. That was about four years ago when Spread Eagle, in a "battle of petitions," seceded from the Town of Florence, held its first election in history as the Town of Spread Eagle and named officers.

That lasted only about six months before a State Supreme Court ruling nullifying the court order establishing the Town of Spread Eagle. Meanwhile, the community of Florence dealt a second blow to Spread Eagle to prevent another secession attempt. A maneuver by the legal minds of Florence resulted in a new state law raising the resident total qualifications for formation of a township so high it was beyond the reach of Spread Eagle.

Florence was desperate and for good reason. It was on the verge of losing the goose that lays the golden tax egg and according to estimates, nearly 75 per cent of the Town of Florence town taxes.

In connection with the Tuesday election, another small cheer erupted with the defeat of Wisconsin's Chief Justice George R. Currie. He was the one who overruled the Florence county court and dissolved the Town of Spread Eagle four years ago.

IT'S THE KIDDIE KORNER

Father DeLeers Identifies Fiancee

DE PERE, Wis.—Father Vincent J. De Leers, dean of St. Norbert college, who announced Tuesday that he had asked the Vatican's permission to leave the Norbertine Order, has identified the woman involved in his decision to seek the right to marry as Miss Marguerite (Peggy) Best, 26, of Carmel, Ind.

Father De Leers, 48, said Miss Best was graduated from St. Norbert in 1961, but that she never was a student of his.

He said that Miss Best became a convert to Roman Catholicism some time before her graduation from St. Norbert. Subsequently she studied in Paris, preparatory to joining an order of nuns in an eastern state. He did not identify the order or the state, but said Miss Best left the order before becoming a member.

"We have agreed not to make any definite plans until we determine what the official action of the church will be," he said.

Father De Leers' decision became known after the college had announced that a layman would replace him as dean.

R. W. Magnuson Awarded Medal

GWINN—U. S. Air Force T-Sgt. Ronald W. Magnuson, son of Mrs. Gladys A. Magnuson, 1006 Sheridan Rd., Escanaba, has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal at K. I. Sawyer AFB.

Sgt. Magnuson received the medal for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces. He was cited for his outstanding performance, professional ability and sound judgement as a personnel technician at Da Nang AB, Vietnam.

He is now at K. I. Sawyer as a member of the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

The sergeant is a 1953 graduate of Escanaba Senior High School. His wife, Lynne, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hansen of 521 S. 18th St., Escanaba.

Escanaba Opens Ore Shipping

By CLINT DUNATHAN

The 1967 ore shipping season on the Great Lakes began today in Escanaba with the loading by the Chicago & North Western Railway of the carrier Edward L. Ryerson.

Escanaba, the only ore shipping port on Lake Michigan, is first to move ore to the smelters each spring. Lake Superior ports will not be loading ore until next week.

The season is opening about one week later than last year, principally because there is no "push" on the part of shippers — indicating there is no big demand on the part of the steel industry.

The North Western moved 6½ million tons of ore (about one-half of it pellet or processed ore) through Escanaba last year. The total this year is expected to be about the same.

The big Ryerson (730 feet long), followed by the Adam Cornelius, a self-unloader 666 feet long, had the assistance of the cutter Mesquite in working their way into the harbor.

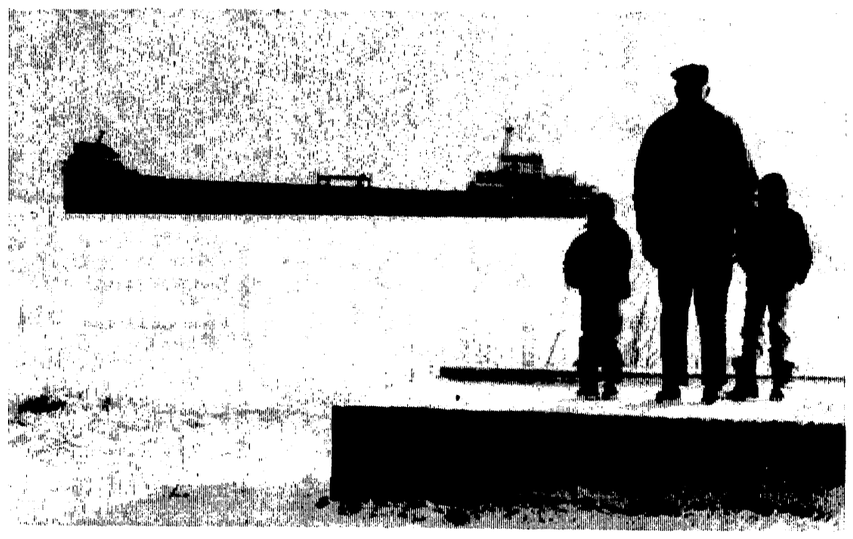
They arrived at the edge of the ice field about 10 miles south of Escanaba at 7 a.m.

The Ryerson will load 23,000 tons of ore and will return to Indiana Harbor for Inland Steel. She is expected to clear today and be back on Sunday for another cargo.

Capt. James Shoesmith of the Ryerson was to be greeted by Escanaba Chamber of Commerce representatives and presented with a gift.

The Cornelius is a Boland and Cornelius boat and her officer is Capt. Elmer E. Murray. She will load 16,000 tons of pellet ore and return to McLouth Steel at Trenton near Detroit.

The first tanker of the season will be the Amaco Wisconsin, coming here from Whiting, Ind., with a cargo for the Standard Oil Co. marine terminal. Robert Haack, Escanaba, the terminal manager, said the tanker is expected to arrive here Saturday morning.



THE FIRST ORE BOAT, not the first robin, is Escanaba's true sign of spring. Among those on hand to greet the Ryerson, Inland Steel flagship, when she passed Sand Point this morning, were William DeHaan, 307 S. 3rd St., and his sons, Peter and David. (Daily Press Photo)

Seaway Opens, First Ship Carries Whisky

By The Associated Press

The St. Lawrence Seaway officially opened today, six days later than last year, but little hard core traffic was expected on the Great Lakes until ice on the St. Mary's River melts, opening mighty Lake Superior to the iron ore carriers.

Two of the first ships heading for Detroit from Montreal were the Carrigan Head, a British vessel loaded with scotch whisky, and the Japanese freighter Mayasan Maru, carrying a cargo of tuna fish, nuts and bolts.

The City of Detroit traditionally honors the first foreign ship of the season with a trophy. The Mayasan Maru has won it the last two seasons. The Carrigan Head last took the honor in 1963.

Ice Blocks River

The Soo Locks, linking Lake Superior with Lake Huron, opened April 1 but no ship has been able to pass through so far because of heavy ice on the St. Mary's River. The Coast Guard Mackinac was expected to break open the river by Saturday.

The traditional staffing of lighthouses in western Lake Superior signaled the opening of the navigation season above the straits Thursday.

The Cutter Woodrush carried the lighthouse crew to Devil's Island near Bayfield, Wis., then transported five-men crews to other lighthouses near Isle Royale, Manitou Island at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula and Huron Island between Skanee and Big Bay.

However, the 25-mile Portage Channel which slices through the Keweenaw Peninsula reportedly was frozen over with a 16-inch sheet of ice.

Lake Levels Rise

Meanwhile, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reported the Great Lakes are on their annual spring rise and by next month will be three to 12 inches higher.

A rise of three inches is forecast in Lake Superior, five inches in lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie and 12 inches in Lake Ontario by May 7.

Current levels exceed those of a month ago by one to six inches. Superior is up an inch, Huron and Michigan four inches, Erie five and Ontario six.

The engineers said the current rises are accounted for by normal seasonal fluctuation.

March Normal In Snow, Temp

March in Escanaba was near normal in both precipitation and average temperature, the Weather Bureau reports.

Most of the cold weather occurred in the first half of the month and all measureable precipitation fell in the latter half.

The average monthly temperature was 26.3 degrees, which was 0.1 degree above normal. No new temperature record was set but the minimum temperature on March 8 was only two degrees above the record low of -10 degrees set in 1885.

The highest temperature was 55 on the 31st and the lowest was -8 on the 1st and 8th. There were 10 days with a Maximum temperatures of 32 degrees and 28 with minimum temperatures of 32 degrees of less.

Precipitation for the month was 1.27 inches, which was 0.39 inch under normal. Greatest was a half inch on March 20-21. There were 6.1 inches of snowfall, the greatest in 24 hours being 5 inches on the 20th and 21st and the greatest depth on the ground 20 inches on the 1st and 2nd.

DETROIT (AP) —Plans for a $2.5 million marina to handle 1,000 boats on Detroit's Belle Isle have been disclosed. When completed, it will be what is described as the world's largest city-owned marina.

Menominee Reapportions

MENOMINEE — A reapportionment plan which will trim the number of supervisors on the Menominee County Board was adopted by a 22-0 vote at a special meeting.

Population of the new districts ranged from 1,381 to 1,836.

The plan will give the City of Menominee seven representatives on the board with eight coming from the rest of the county.

"None of us like it (reapportionment), but we're going to have to like it," said Supervisor Kermit Tessmer of Daggett Township.

"I don't like it. The people don't like it. But what are we going to do about it. It is necessary," said Chairman Clement Ritter, Nadeau Township.

Under Public Act 261 of 1966, Boards of Supervisors in counties under 75,000 population have until April 10 to reapportion according to the one-man, one-vote principal established by the U. S. Supreme Court.

The plan in Menominee County calls for District 15 to include all of Harris Township and a part of Meyer Township. District 14 will embrace a portion of Meyer and Spalding Townships. District 13 will include all of Faithorn and Nadeau Townships. District 12 covers all of Holmes, Lake and Daggett Townships. District 11 includes all of Stephenson Townships and District 10 includes all of Gourley, Cedarville and Ingallston Townships. District nine covers all of Mellen Township and the northern two thirds of Menominee Township. District eight has the southern one third of Menominee Township. City voting wards will make up districts one through seven.

Swan A. Widar Dies Suddenly

Swan Adolph Widar, 78, of 908 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone died suddenly at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the family home. He was born Nov. 3, 1888 in Friestad, Sweden and had resided in Gladstone for the past 62 years.

Mr. Widar was a retired boilermaker for the Chicago & North Western Railroad. He was a member of the First Lutheran Church of Gladstone and the Gladstone Lodge 396, F. & A. M.

Surviving are, three brothers, Paul of Gladstone, Frank of Seattle, Wash., and Olaf of Escanaba; one sister, Mrs. August (Ellen) Froberg of Gladstone.

Friends may call at the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home after 4 p.m. today and Masonic services will be held at 8 p.m. today. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home chapel with Rev. Ingmar Levin officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Rhode Island Democrat Wins

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Democratic State Sen. Robert O. Tiernan of Warwick, a supporter of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam, is officially the winner of the special Rhode Island congressional election.

The State Board of Elections certified Tiernan the winner Thursday over his Republican opponent, Cranston Mayor James DiPrete Jr. after a recount of machine votes.

Tiernan is scheduled to take his seat in the U.S. House next Thursday.

Council Affirms Intent To Appeal

Escanaba councilmen in the majority affirmed their determination to carry to the Supreme Court, if necessary, the city's challenge of the law that permits police officers to be represented by open unions.

Individual statements to this effect were made by members of the Council last night after Councilman H. George Nelson dropped what he termed a "bombshell" at the meeting in City Hall.

Nelson questioned whether the Council is "misusing taxpayers' money" in pursuing its intention to appeal to the Supreme Court if there are rulings against the city in its opposition to having its policemen in union ranks.

Expense Questioned

The Teamsters Union Local 328 represent the officers for collective bargaining under Act 379. The city refuses to recognize the union and a Labor Mediation Board examiner has ruled the city is guilty of unfair labor practice.

The Board itself has yet to give a ruling and if it supports the finding of the examiner the city will appeal from it, according to the majority feeling of the Council.

Nelson questioned the expense and said he understands other cities and the Michigan Municipal League are not participating in the cost of appeal. The cost may "run nto thousands of dollars," he said. "I don't want this on my conscience."

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe said that a "principle is involved here," but that the city is "not against the union."

May Change Law

"What is involved is a conflict of interest," on the part of the officers if they are to continue in union ranks, the mayor added. The question must be resolved in the court, and the union itself should be interested in having it answered, he added.

While Escanaba is the leader —the first city to challenge the Act in Michigan—other communities are interested and other states are watching to see the outcome of the case, Mayor Vanlerberghe said.

He said he did not feel that cost would "place Escanaba citizens in financial jeopardy" but he did feel that the citizens would want the Council to pursue the appeal as a matter of principle.

The Michigan Legislature itself is seeking clarification and is considering changes in the law, the mayor pointed out.

"Airing" The Case

"This is putting the Council in an unfavorable situation," said the mayor in connection with Nelson's opening the matter to discussion.

Councilman Cox said he saw no reason not to go ahead with the appeal if it is necessary and said he understood the cost would be "maybe $2,000 to $3,000—there is nothing definite."

The mayor again urged that the discussion cease, noting that he did not think "the opposition" would discuss its case publicly.

Councilman Chase declared that if the discussion was to continue it should be in executive committee of the Council, and he moved that discussion be terminated.

The discussion also involved the Council's informal meetings and the record that is kept of Council sessions. Nelson moved and the Council approved that radio tapes of the formal meetings be purchased from WDBC and retained, and tape recordings of informal sessions be kept as part of the record.

Teamster Pickets Halt School Work

EAST LANSING (AP) —A two-man Teamsters Union picket line Thursday brought a halt to construction of a $2.5 million addition to East Lansing High School.

The pickets, from Teamsters Local 580, carried signs saying the East Lansing Board of Education had refused to enter into a union shop agreement covering school bus drivers.

Negotiations for a contract covering the seven drivers started last October.

About 30 workers at the construction site walked off their jobs when the picket line went up.

First Skirmish Lost

Lansing is quite a can of worms. Governor Romney's proposal for an income tax was defeated in the Senate with the help of some of his Republicans and sent back to committee for rewriting. That means for revisions that are calculated to make it appeal to enough senators so that they'll vote for it. This can be done by reducing the rate, by increasing the exemptions and deductions, and by replacing existing taxes or parts of them with the new income tax.

The House is writing its own income tax bill and Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) says that the Republican caucus has agreed on a package providing a 2.5 per cent personal income tax, a 5 per cent corporate income tax and an 8 per cent financial institutions tax. The proposed 20 per cent reduction of property taxes would be reduced to 15 per cent on private property and 5 per cent of corporate property.

The sales tax credit would be given not to individuals but figured at $5 per person and given to the counties and to the cities, villages and townships. This agreement was later reported further revised and in the Senate its defeated bill is being rewritten line-by-line.

* * *

The Democrats who controlled the Legislature last year and who wrote into law the spending which makes a big part of the new taxes necessary aren't agreed on what the income tax should be like. They say it's too hasty, too regressive because of its flat rate (a graduated rate is unconstitutional in Miihigan), that the 2.5 per cent rate is not adequate; that it hits the low income people too hard.

The truth is that they're as unhappy as the Republicans at the necessity of an income tax and reluctant to be its co-authors although their leaders have urged one for years. The Romney tax plan is revealed as a middle-of-the-road package by criticism from the liberals that it is too modest (it is part of a budget plan proposing a 12 per cent increase over last year's record spending) and criticism from the conservatives that it is too burdensome.

* * *

We find it difficult to believe that the Legislature is willing to go home and explain to the people that it approved a 15 per cent reduction in strategic state services in order to avoid a state income tax. It will probably work out a maximum milding off of the tax by exemptions, deductions and rebates. It may take refuge in a referendum so the people have a chance to veto the tax and put the Legislature in a position to say: "We told you so!"

This would only prolong the crisis and defeat the public interest. The tax cannot be made popular by any strategy, but neither the Republicans who are so unhappy about it, nor the Democrats who are opposing it have proposed a better alternative.

RFK Has Dilemma

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York did not wait for an invitation to turn up recently at an important evening reception held by the Democratic National Committee.

He had repair work to do. A good many Democratic politicians around the country, though friendly to his long range ambitions for higher office, were disturbed at the evident low state of his relations with President Johnson.

Generally, they see the "feud" fuzzily. But at least a few figures including some quite fond of Kennedy, lay chief blame upon him.

Kennedy, backed up by his brother Ted, senator from Massachusetts, worked the reception crowd well — while aware, certainly, that these leaders have no intention of abandoning LBJ in 1968 and that they were at least moderately pleased at the President's beginning efforts to put more life in neglected party machinery.

One venerable committeeman, speaking of Johnson's new stirrings, said:

"We've been had—and I like it!"

Kennedy's appearance in this setting seemed a fresh underscoring, at a critical moment, of his repeated assertions that he supports the President for re-election next year. Yet it cannot be said this ends the whole matter.

For the recent flareup in the long-strained relations between the President and Kennedy suggests to some observers that some of the senator's friends and sympathizers will not let his "cause" be pursued more cautiously even if he should wish it.

It was a sympathizer who leaked the story that Kennedy was coming home from Paris with a Vietnam "peace feeler." That episode, plus Kennedy's outspoken criticisms of U. S.-Vietnam policy while abroad, led to the severe dressing-down LBJ gave the senator on Feb. 6. Once again, a Kennedy sympathizer let out the story.

Curiously, the printing of those stories produced a verbal backlash of considerable force from liberal sources which assumed—quite wrongly—that the White House leaked the information. The liberals' outrage could not have been more misdirected.

Their performance at this stage illustrates the seriousness of a fundamental Kennedy dilemma.

From the outset of his Senate career in 1965, he has consciously sought to establish a separate identity for himself—to speak up when he felt the issue demanded it, even if that ranged him against the Johnson administration from time to time. He has been particularly eager to find and hold common ground with the country's young people.

There is much more to it than just wanting their votes at some future date. The whole Kennedy mystique is founded on a linkage with youth, on a wish to encourage their aspirations and their taking part in the challenges of the age.

In a quieter time, with no Vietnam war, Bob Kennedy might follow his course of "occasional separatism" with little fuss. But, in the superheated atmosphere generated by Vietnam, his distinctive declarations are seized upon with near frenzy by opponents of the war and haters of Lyndon Johnson.

The roster of ultraliberals who now hail Kennedy's name would—three years ago—have seemed to them and to him a thoroughly ludicrous prospect. They reprint his speeches, press him to attack the President's policies further, urge his 1968 presidential candidacy.

Some Democrats at the big party gathering felt that this winter—especially on his trip abroad—Kennedy had overreached himself in his quest for identity. They felt that serious party damage might result if he does not pull in somewhat.

Kennedy's round of handshaking among the professionals probably will be taken as a signal he agrees. But one high - placed Democrat thinks he must do much more, that he must campaign for Johnson with immense vigor in 1968. To do less, he says, is to risk having a possible LBJ defeat blamed on him, or a Johnson victory credited wholly to the President and others, and not at all to him.

If Kennedy does go all out on the campaign trail, then he faces the other horn of his dilemma—the wrath of the antiwar, anti-Johnson liberals who have tried to capture the senator as their chief weapon against the President. Ever fickle, they might desert Robert Kennedy in droves.

Ontonagon Gets Airport Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ontonagon County will receive a $39,290 grant from the Federal Aviation Agency for expansion of the county airport, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announces.

Plans include construction of ramps for the south approach, widening the north and south runways 25 feet and extending the north-south runway by 500 feet.

Gains Reviewed As Bargaining Shapes

By RUDOLPH OSWALD
And RALPH D. SCOTT
AFL-CIO Research Dept.

The year 1967 will be one of substantial collective bargaining activity. Over 700 major contracts are up for renegotiation. The agreements cover 3.1 million workers, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. This will be the most active year for major contract negotiations since 1959.

Contracts between the Auto Workers and the Big Three auto makers expire in September. Approximately 580,000 workers are covered by contracts expiring at Chrysler, Ford and General Motors. Trucking firms are already engaged in contract talks covering approximately 288,000 workers. Other major negotiations in 1967 are set in the rubber, meatpacking and farm machinery industries.

Workers under large contracts receiving deferred increases in 1967 (wage boosts due this year that were negotiated in prior years) number approximately 3.8 million. There are 2.2 million in manufacturing and 1.6 million in non-manufacturing. In 1966, 4.3 million workers under major contracts received deferred increases. Deferred increases in 1967 will average 2.5 to 3.5 per cent or 8 to 10 cents an hour.

Last year, workers under major agreements in the auto industry, farm equipment, transportation and meatpacking industry received deferred increases; these contracts are up for renegotiation in 1967.

Typical wage increases in 1966 in major contracts — those covering 1,000 or more workers — when averaged over the full life of the contracts ran between 3.5 and 4.0 per cent, figured on an annual basis. The average rise was 3.7 per cent.

These recent increases in wages compare to a 3.3 per cent wage gain in 1965, 3.0 per cent in 1964 and 2.3 per cent in 1963.

The average wage increase to go into effect during the first contract year was 4.4 per cent.

Although the majority of wage increases fell below 5 per cent over the life of the contract, nearly one-half of the 2.8 million workers who won wage increases received hikes of 5 per cent or more in the first year of the contract.

In construction, wage increases during 1966 showed gains of about 5.5 per cent — generally about 15 to 20 cents an hour. Increases for the first contract year were 5.0 per cent. The higher settlements reflect seasonal and other conditions in the construction industry.

Living costs as measured by the Consumer Price Index rose 2.9 per cent during 1966. In 1965, prices rose 1.7 per cent, in 1964 the increase was only 1.3 per cent and, in 1963, 1.2 per cent.

Workers not covered by cost-of-living clauses had to obtain at least a 2.9 per cent pay increase to keep pace with price increases. Wage gains placed in the pay envelope were quickly diminished by higher prices for food, medical services and public transportation.

In efforts to preserve their ability to buy goods and services, as well as advance the buying power of wages and salaries, workers sought and gained larger pay increases than in past years. Cost-of-living escalator clauses gained new importance as a means of protecting wage earner buying power.

Contract negotiations in 1966 brought the total number of workers covered by agreements that provide for some sort of escalator clause based on price changes to 2.5 million.

Welfare

The AFL-CIO position on public assistance:

"PUBLIC WELFARE programs throughout the country are so financially starved of needed funds that they can provide only sub-minimum maintenance and inadequate social services to a mere 22 per cent of the poorest and most underprivileged members of our society. These include mothers caring for fatherless children, the poorest among the elderly and the needy disabled and blind.

"Most needy people get no public assistance whatsoever.

"The Advisory Council on Public Welfare, appointed by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare under congressional mandate to review the nation's public assistance programs, has recommended a new approach, the main features of which are:

"1. A national minimum standard for public assistance payments.

"2. A national comprehensive system of public assistance based on a single criterion: Need.

"3. A uniform, simple plan for federal-state sharing in costs of all public welfare programs which provides for equitable and reasonable fiscal effort among states and recognizes the relative fiscal capacity of federal and state governments.

A letter from El Paso, Texas asks: "Does the correct play always win? Don't experts ever take a losing finesse?"

The answer to this is that experts frequently take losing finesses. Sometimes they have no choice. If you have to finesse for a king you only have one way to go. Other times they go wrong just as everyone occasions they deliberately finesse in a certain direction to make sure that the dangerous hand does not get in the lead.

West opens the seven of spades against South's three no - trump contract. East plays the jack and South holds back his king. East continues with the ace and another spade and South is in with the king.

He has two ways to finesse for the queen of diamonds. You can see that queen reposing quietly in the West hand and can see that if South plays the king of diamonds and continues the ten he will take the rest of the tricks and won't even have to finesse at all. The queen will show up when he leads the ten.

Our expert would also lose his membership in the experts' union if he made that play. The reason is that he does not know where the queen of diamonds is but he does know where the rest of the spades are. If he plays that way and East holds the queen he goes down at three no-trump.

If he leads a club to dummy, plays any diamond but the ace and finesses his ten, he is going to lose to the queen this time but he makes his contract irrespective of where the queen is.

A—If you are sure that your partner won't pass you should bid two hearts. There may be a slam here. If he is likely to pass at two hearts, then bid three no-tramp.

Romney Accepts Red Telephone

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney is one of the nation's state chief executives who have accepted special telephones to receive emergency communications from the U.S. President.

The red telephone, which was installed around the first of this year, is a Civil Defense measure.

"I don't think it's ever been used," a spokesman for Romney said.

Ann Landers

Your Hubby's The Clear Fruitcake

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have known Bill and Rita for a long time. We were at their home last Saturday, and after several hours of talking and drinking, my husband managed to get Rita alone in the kitchen. I was left in the living room with Bill.

I don't drink and my husband says this is my trouble. He claims I can't get into the swing of things because I am not relaxed. I've always had a hunch that most people drink because it gives them an excuse to do and say things they wouldn't do and say if they were sober.

My husband finally came out of the kitchen and announced that he and Rita were going out to get some fresh air and he hoped Bill and I had a good time. I told him nothing doing. We had an argument and my husband and Rita left.

My husband came right out and said he sees nothing wrong in switching partners if everyone agrees. According to him, 20 years is a long time to be married to one woman and he is getting curious. He also said he deserves some credit for being open and aboveboard.

He is a very persuasive arguer and sometimes I wonder if I am crazy. Please advise. — SPOILSPORT

Dear S.: There is nothing wrong with you, Doll. Your husband is the nut in the family. I think you need some new friends.

Sure, people get curious — and sometimes it doesn't take them 20 years. But curiosity is no excuse for behaving like animals.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I have just received a chain letter asking me to send $1 each to nine friends. My instructions said I was to make nine copies and send them off airmail special delivery within 96 hours. Do you realize that this would cost me $9 plus $3.42 in stamps? And it would take several hours to get those nine copies out because I don't own a typewriter?

The letter said if I complied with the request I would save a life and end up rich. It said if I failed to follow the instructions someone dear to me would meet a terrible fate and I would die broke.

I think it's awful to scare people like that. Please tell folks that chain letters interfere with the peace of mind of the average person and nobody has the right to do this. — SHOOK UP

Dear Shook: I will say even more. If they involve payment of money, chain letters are against the law.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-year-old son has a habit of bringing friends to spend the night. The last friend stayed three months.

He ate every meal here, I did his laundry and nursed him through the flu. I got tired of giving him maid service without so much as a thank you or a dime in return, so I told him to leave.

Now when the boy sees me in town he doesn't even say hello.

My husband claims the house belongs to our son as well as to us and that I should make his guests feel welcome. He makes it sound so logical I sometimes think he is right. Is he?—HIGH GROCERY BILL

Dear High: No. A free-loader who hangs around for three months can hardly be regarded as a guest.

Your son should be allowed to offer hospitality to his friends, but he has no right to expect his mother to be a cook, maid, laundress and nurse to the strays he finds around town.

Dirksen Disputes Hart That:

Lack Of Advertising Boosts Funeral Costs

WASHINGTON — Senator Philip Hart's report on a study of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Committee, of which he is chairman, on the cost of dying brought him into sharp and acrimonous dissent from two Republican members of the Senate, Everett L. Dirksen (Illinois) and Roman L. Hruska (Nebraska).

The men clashed bitterly over the controversial question of funeral costs and brought from the velvet - voiced Republican leader of the Senate language harsher than he uses on almost any occasion on a fellow member of the Senate club.

★ ★ ★

THE REPORT, held up for two years because of internal subcommittee dissension, is based on hearings held 2½ years ago.

Based on the hearings, Hart concluded:

● A prohibition by the National Funeral Directors Association (NFDA) against competitive advertising contributes to the high cost of funerals.

● That the cost of funerals is based on the pricing of caskets and that the cost of a funeral "rises far more steeply than the cost of the casket to the undertaker."

● If advertising restraints continue, the practice should be examined by the Justice Department to determine if antitrust laws are being violated.

Hart was joined in his views by Senators Edward M. Kennedy, of Massachusetts and Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, both Democrats.

★ ★ ★

DIRKSEN, in a scathing reply, declared that reputations were blackened by a "questionable document based on only three days of biased and unobjective hearings that can cause loss of confidence by the public in a noble profession necessary to our way of life."

He continued:

"The Hart views are unsupported by the facts and by the incomplete and biased record, thus leaving the Congress, the industry and the public in a quandary.

"The conclusions in said Hart views are incredible under any system of evaluation. . ."

Dirksen and Hruska argued vehemently against publication of the report.

So did a powerful lobby of undertakers.

★ ★ ★

WHILE THEY FAILED, committee sources said publication was delayed until "a lot of the heat was off." At the time of the hearings a public controversy had been stirred by Jessica Mitford's book criticizing the funeral industry.

Hart argued that the hearings showed that the cost of funerals is based on "the sale of a commodity — the casket."

Philip A. Hart

He added:

"What is not usually understood by the consumer is that the charge to him for the funeral rises far more steeply than the cost of the casket to the undertaker.

"In one funeral home, for example, if a casket cost $42.50, the funeral charge is $298; if a casket cost $95.50, the funeral charge is $715; and the casket cost $388, the funeral charge is $1,590.

"Would a family order a funeral at a higher charge if they were aware that so little goes into increased casket cost?"

★ ★ ★

HART EXTENDED his criticism against "antiadvertising" in the funeral industry to lack of "prearranged plans" where persons could shop on the basis of advertising for the best funeral deals in advance of the time of death.

Everett L. Dirksen

But he said this is discouraged because the NFDA forbids its members to advertise the availability of prearrangement plans.

According to U.S. Commerce Department figures, Hart said the average funeral in 1963 cost $988. But because this includes burials for indigents and infants, he added, "the average regular adult funeral would be substantially higher."

★ ★ ★

DIRKSEN DISAGREED with the figures, saying the average funeral in 1963 cost $723. He called the discrepancy "alarming."

Hart said the Dirksen cost figures do not take into account certain burial expenses including monuments and grave openings.

Hart said the antiadvertising policy is defended on the ground that undertaking is a profession. But he maintained that "the mask of professionalism is no excuse for ant-competitive conduct."

Dirksen and Hruska said that while the National Funeral Directors Association contends the advertising of funeral prices is misleading, the National Selected Morticians takes a strong position in support of price advertising.

"Whether funeral price advertising is proper or not should not be judged by the subcommittee," Dirksen and Hruska said. "It is a matter for the state legislatures."

★ ★ ★

HART CONTENDED: "The fact that consumers need price information to make wise buying choices is the same whether you are taking about corn flakes, cars or funerals."

Hart said he did not contend the NFDA intended its advertising ban "to hamper the consumer." He also said that "intent to deceieve has never been the issue. It's the eff of the ban which concerns me."

Hart said that if advertising restraints continue, the Justice Department should examine their legality. He also suggested that the Federal Trade Commission consider setting up industry - wide regulations.

Advertising of prices and itemizing individual charges would tend to lower funeral costs, Hart said.

Holy Family Altar Society April Meeting

Reports on the MDCCW Convention held in Escanaba, April 1-2, were given at the April meeting of the Holy Family Altar Society of Flat Rock.

Mrs. Jack Gascon was welcomed as a new member of the society.

Father Thomas Andary announced that Forty-hours would begin Saturday morning, April 22, and end Sunday afternoon with a Mass at 4 o'clock.

The Society will send a senior girl on retreat again this year. Interested girls are to give their names to Father Andary and one will be chosen from the list. The retreat will be May 15-17.

Lunch was served followed by games with Mrs. Ed Greis, chairman. Winners were Mrs. Art Tourangeau, Mrs. Lawrence Chouinard, Mrs. Donald Roberts and Mrs. Dwaine Taylor. Mrs. Art Tourangeau also won the guest prize.

Election of new officers will take place at the next meeting, May 2.

Auxiliary Card Party

The St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor its annual spring card party on Saturday, April 15, at 1 p.m. at the Sherman Hotel. The theme of this year's party will be, "Suddenly It's Spring."

Co-chairmen of the events will be Mesdames Joseph LaCrosse and Chet Morton. Handmade prizes will be awarded at each table.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. LaCrosse, 786-0347 or Mrs. Morton, 786-7984 before Wednesday, April 12.

Mrs. Norman Arnold (Gordon Nelson Photo)

Mary Alice Boucher, Norman Arnold Wed

St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Escanaba, its altars adorned with tall vases of white gladiolus and lilies, was the setting Saturday, April 1, for the wedding of Mary Alice Boucher and Norman O. Arnold.

Rev. Leno Zadra officiated at the double ring ceremony at 12 noon. Miss Susan Frasher was the organist and she also sang, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," as the bride placed an all white bouquet at the altar of the blessed Virgin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boucher of 921 Sheridan Road and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Arnold, 1405 S. 14th St.

Silk Organza

The bride selected for her wedding an all white gown of silk organza trimmed with chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned with a sabrina neckline trimmed with seed pearls and sequins, fitted bodice and long organza trimmed sleeves. The floor length skirt was accented with side panels of lace and flowed into a chapel train.

Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught by a crown of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of lily petals with feathered carnations.

Maid of honor for her sister was Kathy Boucher and bridesmaids were Janet Larson, a sister of the bride and Carmen Arnold, sister of the bridegroom.

Yellow, Green

They were attired in identical gowns fashioned with scoop necklines short sleeves and ruffled back panels. The maid of honor wore yellow and the maids, green. Completing their attire were cultured pearl necklaces, a gift of the bride. They carried bouquets of white lilies centered with blue iris.

Penny Brazzee was the flower girl and wore a floor length gown of white organza and she carried a miniature replica of the bride's bouquet.

Serving as bestman was Leon Ekberg and groomsmen were Dan Ross and Roy Anderson. Seating the guests were Bill Viau and Dean Gillespi. Jeffrey Larson was ringbearer.

Mother's Attire

For attending her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boucher wore a three piece beige knit suit with orange and beige accessories. Mrs. Arnold selected a three piece gold knit suit with celery accessories. Both mothers were presented corsages of cream shaded cymbidium orchids.

The wedding reception was held for 250 guests from 4 to 8 p. m. at the Eagles Hall.

The newlyweds, both graduates of Escanaba Area High School, are making their home at 708 Bay St., Escanaba.

Davidsons Are Honorees Here At Home Party

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Fitzharris and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Chapekis entertained more than a hundred persons at a cocktail party at the Chapekis home, 1601 S. 16th St., last evening honoring Circuit Judge and Mrs. Bernard H. Davidson.

Judge Davidson of Negaunee, and Mrs. Inez Abelwhite Archibald of Ishpeming were wed in Ishpeming on March 17.

Attorney Arthur A. Neiman, speaking for the Delta County Bar Association, presented the Davidsons with a gift from the association and expressed the bar's admiration of Judge Davidson as both an able jurist and a friend of the bar, and its hope that the newly wedded couple would enjoy lasting happiness.

They will make their home in Ishpeming.

Webster PTA Meets Monday

The Webster PTA will meet Monday, April 10, at 7:30 p. m. There will be election and installation of new officers.

Jean Cote's French dancers will present a program of folk dances. William Williams of Bay De Noc Community College will discuss, "New Math Methods". All interested persons are invited to attend this meeting.

Breakfast Is Energy Way To Start Day, Says Barb

By ELAINE SCHULTZ

Have you ever wondered why people always say breakfast is the most important meal?

Miss Tyne Kangas, home economics instructor at Escanaba Area High School explains it this way:

"Breakfast is the most important meal simply because you haven't eaten for so many hours and you need energy for the long day ahead."

A survey recently of many girls from Holy Name and Escanaba Area high schools reveals that approximately only one-third of the girls questioned skip breakfast.

Those few who seldom ate breakfast at all said they didn't feel hungry or tired around 11 o'clock; but the girls who do eat in the morning said when they skipped eating for some reason or another they were hungry around 11 a.m. and were very hungry at lunch.

Light But Nutritious

Most of the girls who eat breakfast said their parents were pleased when they ate something even if it wasn't much. Six of the girls said they were not allowed to leave the house in the morning unless they ate. The teens who didn't eat said (on the average) that their parents didn't think a thing of it.

The girls who do have breakfast usually have a light one: A cup of coffee or milk with a toast. But as Miss Kangas said, even one glass of orange juice (which provides vitamin C), and one bowl of cereal with milk (which supplies protein and carbohydrates) fill the requirements for a nutritious breakfast.

BARB LARSON, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Larson of Wells, breakfasts on French toast with syrup, half grapefruit and milk. As you can see, Barb (she's a Holy Name High School senior) keeps a pretty figure. (Daily Press Photo)

Surprisingly, only two of the girls questioned who skip breakfast said they would not encourage their own teens to eat in the morning. One girl said "I'll want my kids to eat because I know breakfast is important, but I can't eat in the morning. It makes me feel ill."

Another student who doesn't ordinarily eat a morsel expressed this feeling, "I figure getting a few more minutes of sleep is worth more than eating that early in the morning."

Hungry By Noon

Most of the girls questioned rode to school either on the bus or in a car. The average girl gets up around 7 a.m. "I have time to eat if I want to," explained one pupil, "but I'm on a diet so I never eat anything. Sometimes I get awful hungry by noon."

The most unusual breakfast mentioned was a hamburger every morning. The heaviest was pancakes, juice, sausages and toast, and the lightest was a glass of orange juice. "Boy, when I miss my orange juice, I really eat a big lunch," exclaimed one teen.

Only three girls had a heavy breakfast, and not one of those three was overweight, they had a big breakfast every morning, they explained, because their fathers were home and the whole family ate together.

"My parents think its the most important meal," said one, "and it is. It doesn't take that much time either, because I'm usually never late for school."

Escanaba teenage girls, on the whole, know that breakfast and good eating habits in general, are important to one's health; and although some don't have proper diets right now, over two-thirds will encourage their own children to do so, they said.

Sacred Heart Mission Begins Tomorrow

A woman's body. Architecturally, quite interesting. To a man. But not to the woman who owns one. Most women tend to ignore their own bodies.

Do you? Do you check your body, particularly your breasts, every month, for any lump or thickening? You should. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere could be a warning signal of cancer. And cancer is easier to cure when it's detected early.

Sophia Loren knows the seven warning signals of cancer. So should you:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

It makes sense to know the seven warning signals of cancer.

New England Farmhouse

By ANDY LANG

The exterior of a house creates the "image" by which it is known to those who never see the inside of it.

When the artist's rendering of this house was presented to us, there was an immediate impression of warmth and friendliness. Architect Samuel Paul obviously had caught the character of neighborliness and hospitality so evident in the New England farmhouse.

A study of the interior plans showed that the cozy atmosphere of the exterior had been combined with all the comforts of modern living on the inside. This is a compactly-planned house — only 1666 square feet on the ground level, yet with rooms that are generous in size and convenient in disposition. By utilizing the expansion attic for two additional bedrooms, a fairly large family would have adequate space to enjoy a good life without the necessity of owning an oversize house. The family requiring only the two bedrooms on the ground floor could leave the expansion area unfinished or use it for other purposes, perhaps for studying, sewing or hobby activities.

FARMHOUSE COMFORT: Modern version of the New England farmhouse has all the inviting charms of the old colonial home, plus all the present-day interior conveniences that provide good living with minimum work and maintenance.

To the left of the ample entry foyer is the fully-equipped efficiency kitchen, with a dinette for informal family meals. Adjacent to this is the family room and the laundry, making it easy for mother to keep an eye on the children as she does her chores. A lavatory in the laundry room is just a few steps from a side entry, helping to prevent traffic through the house and providing a convenient wash-up area.

The rear of the family room leads to a patio — an outdoor room with built-in barbecue, sheltered on two sides so that it can be used most of the year. The more formal living room and dining room sections can be entered directly from the main foyer past the open stair, with a conveniently-located closet for guests' outer clothing. An attractive fireplace in the living room contributes to the friendly atmosphere. The dining room is so situated that it could be combined with the living room to form one large space for entertaining. It is directly accessible to the kitchen for ease of serving.

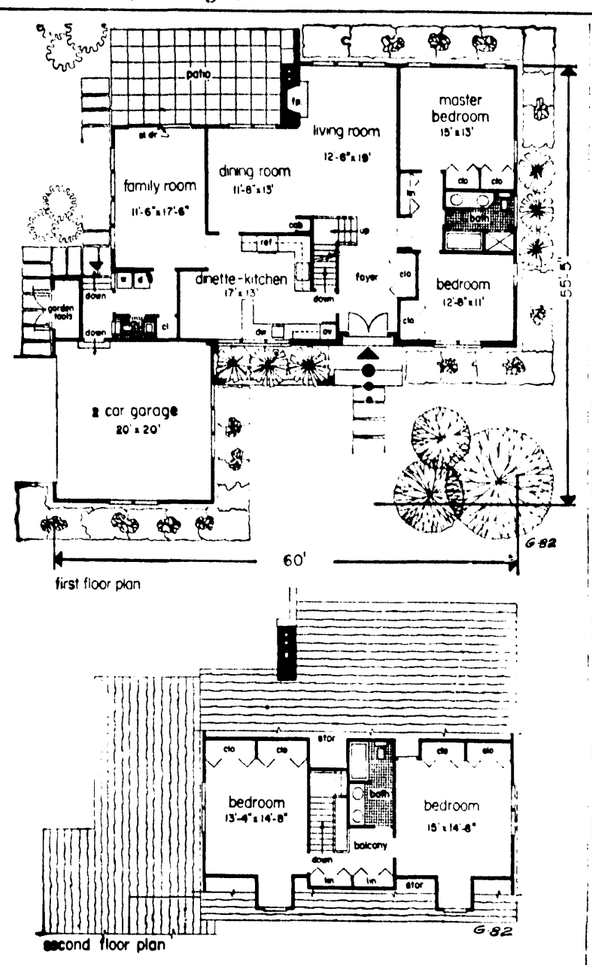
The two bedrooms on the ground floor retain their privacy from the rest of the house, yet are located off the main foyer. They share a large bath containing two lavatories, a full tub and a stall shower and are served by an oversized linen closet. Both rooms have cross-ventilation.

Whether the second floor were finished at the time of the original construction or a later time, it can accomodate two large bedrooms, a bath and considerable storage space, as architect Paul's plans show. Each of the two bedrooms has two spacious closets. There are two lavatories in the bathroom, and two linen closets in the hall.

A special room next to the two-car garage provides a sizable area for storing garden tools. There is direct access from the garage into the house, always a convenience for carrying packages.

The use of barn shakes along with brick helps to maintain the New England farmhouse look of this warm, informal residence.

Design G-82 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, dinette, family room, laundry, foyer, two bedrooms and a bath on the ground floor, with a total habitable area of 1666 square feet, which does not include the two-car garage, outside storage room and rear patio. There are 710 square feet in the upstairs expansion area, which has been divided into two bedrooms, a bath, balcony and storage space. The over-all dimensions of 60' by 55' 5" include the garage.



FLOOR PLANS: Excellent circulation pattern of this 1½-story house is enhanced by four entrances: the front, leading to the foyer; the side, leading to the laundry room; the door from the inside of the garage; and the sliding door from the rear patio to the family room.

Delta Shares In Federal Grant For Mental Aid

LANSING (AP) — The State Mental Health Department reports community mental health centers in nine Michigan cities have been awarded more than $3.7 million in federal funds.

Dr. V.A. Stehman, acting director, said the money will be used for construction and staffing costs at the centers. The funds are given on a federal-state matching basis.

The communities given the grants were the first in the state to apply for federal funds, Stehman said.

The successful applicants and amounts of their grants:

Kalamazoo Borgess Hospital, $800,000; Lansing St. Lawrence Hospital, separate grants of $700,000 and $552,370; St. Joseph Memorial Hospital, $350,000; Grand Rapids Child Guidance Clinic, $162,720; Port Huron General Hospital, $292,260; Battle Creek Health Center, $400,000; Alpena Mental Health Center, $130,271; Pontiac State Hospital, $259,309; Marquette Upper Peninsula Health Clinic $90,380.

The grant to Marquette will be shared by Marquette, Delta and Alger counties in their new mental health program. Marquette and Alger are allied in a mental health district and Delta is setting up one of its own, but affiliated with the Marquette-Alger District, at least in this beginning stage and in this period when it is so difficult to staff a mental health service because of the shortage of such skills.

The grant is for the staffing of the organizations that will provide the mental health services in the three counties. The federal grant was sought under a plan which calls for the gradual phasing out of federal aid and the financing of the program under Michigan's Mental Health Act 54, which provides three-quarters of the finances for such programs, and county funds at the local level for the rest.

Bobby Baker Gets 1-3 Years

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Bobby Baker, onetime Senate aide, was sentenced today to not less than one year and not more than three years in prison.

Baker stood quietly in the courtroom as Judge Oliver Gasch pronounced the sentence.

Baker was convicted of seven counts on charges of income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. The judge sentenced him to one to three years on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

His attorneys said the conviction will be appealed.

Before pronouncing sentence, Gasch said: "Mr. Baker you may speak."

"I have nothing, your honor," Baker said.

British Marine Killed By Auto

EAGLESHAM, Scotland (AP) — A motorist ran into a column of 14 Royal Marines marching along a country lane Thursday night, killing one and seriously injuring six others.

The car was badly damaged but its driver was not hurt.

Cuts Pollution

FLINT (AP) — As part of its plans to reduce air pollution, Buick Motor Division has announced that it will install a dust collecting system in its foundry cupolas. Robert Breeden, general manufacturing manager, said work would begin immediately. "There will be a significant improvement in air pollution within two years," he added.

Realtors Hold Board Meeting

The processes and the purposes in the acquistion of public lands was told to the Upper Peninsula Board of Realtors at a meeting at the Dells Supper Club in Escanaba Thursday.

Marvin Marshall, Escanaba, of the U. S. Forest Service lands service department discussed the acquisition of the lands to the group that included representatives from 11 U.P. cities. The informative and constructive program was arranged by Warren Johnston and John Pearson, co-chairmen.

Richard Juetten, president, conducted the meeting and a talk was presented by Robert L. Helwig, Marquette, on the Travelcare Guide to the U.P.

Maps of Indian reservations in the U.P. were distributed by Keith Semenak, Bureau of Indian Affairs; and John Christopherson, Detroit and Northern Loan Association, discussed mortgage guarantee insurance. He is from Hancock.

Earl Closser of Marquette conducted the business session at which new by-laws were adopted.

Auto Production Hits Two Million

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto production reached two million for the year to date Thursday—22 days later than the two-millionth car of 1966.

Car No. 2,000,000 of 1966 was produced on March 15 in the industry's second-best year in history. The lateness of the two-millionth car this year reflects production cuts in the face of slow sales.

Output for the week totaled 166,208 this week, above the 142,376 built in the same week last year, but last year's week included Good Friday--a nonproduction day.

Assemblies so far this year total 2,039,502, well below the 2,679,672 produced at the same point in 1966.

Briefly Told

Duplicate bridge will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Elks Club.

House Debate On Tax Bills Delayed A Week

LANSING (AP) — Surprisingly little debate was heard as House Republicans amended their tax reform bills Thursday and moved them into position for final passage.

There was scarcely a murmur from Democrats.

But something more than a murmur is expected next Wednesday if debate begins on schedule on the $314 million tax package which includes a 2½ per cent personal income tax.

Thursday's action was only technical, and Democratic leaders had agreed in the morning not to interfere.

The process involved amending bills already reported from the House Taxation Committee to incorporate new ideas approved by the Republican caucus after the committee sent the measures to the floor.

Michigan State University radio station WKAR broadcast the proceedings live — a rarity in the Legislature — but all listeners heard were voice votes on amendments offered with little or no explanation, almost no debate and usually no dissent.

Seek Vote By Friday

Republican Floor Leader William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, planned to move today to schedule the opening of debate on tax reform for Wednesday. He said he hoped for a final vote next Thursday or Friday.

Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, the House Democratic Leader, indicated his party probably would not be prepared for a vote next week, but Hampton apparently planned to go ahead with the vote anyway.

The GOP package, similar to one defeated in the Senate last week, contains income taxes of 2½ per cent on individuals, 5 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions.

It would increase the cigarette tax by three cents a package, repeal the business activities tax, cut school and county property taxes 4 per cent, and increase the intangibles tax exemption from $20 to $100 per person per year.

Amusement Levy

Included in the house fiscal package is a bill authorizing the governing body of a city, village or township to levy a 5 per cent excise tax on amusement admissions and hotel and motel charges.

Another bill permits the state to assume the collection burden of a city which now levies its own income tax. The State would keep 2 per cent of the city tax it collected to offset collection costs.

The House Republican program would also rebate 0.5 per cent of the personal income levy — half to counties and half to cities, villages and townships.

Spokesmen estimate the plan would provide a net revenue gain of $314 million in fiscal 1967-68 and of about $300 million in 1968-69.

Many Democrats are expected to oppose the plan and not all Republicans are likely to support it. Thus, although the GOP has a 55-54 House majority, it is far from certain the Republican package will pass.

Democrats — who contended the original program proposed by Gov. George Romney put too much of the new-tax burden on individuals and not enough on business — are likely to be even more unhappy with two changes the House Republicans have made in Romney's program.

City-County Rebate

Those include substitution of the income tax rebate to cities and counties for Romney's proposed $10 sales tax refund to individuals, and a cut in Romney's proposed financial institution tax from 8 to 7 per cent.

Deleted from the income tax bill was a section appropriating $500,000 to the Treasury Department to meet expenses incurred in setting up tax-collecting machinery. A separate bill doing the same thing is expected to be introduced.

By taking that provision from the bill, however, Republicans may have made possible a public vote on the tax. The state constitution prohibits a public vote on a law "making appropriations for state institutions."

City Moves On Urban Renewal

A preliminary step and another phase leading toward a program of urban renewal for Escanaba was taken by the City Council Thursday night.

The Council on the recommendation of City Manager George Harvey approved a survey and planning application with the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which if approved will qualify the city for a $160,000 planning grant.

The grant is a part of the funding for a total development program whose cost will be financed 75 per cent by federal and 25 per cent by local funds. The local funding may include services in lieu of cash.

Approved for assessment some 20 alley paving projects, after hearing questions on one project and objections to another. City Attorney John G. Erickson was asked to determine the legality of processing one of the petitions.

Robert Abb and Conrad Finstrom represented property owners objecting to the use of concrete rather than lower-cost blacktop for paving an alley between 8th and 9th Sts. and 4th and 5th Aves. S.

Adopted an ordinance to change the zoning from Residence A to Residence B in an area at Stephenson Ave. and Sheridan Road.

Authorized the purchase of approximately three acres of shore frontage from the Chicago & North Western Railway near the Reiss dock as possible site for an industry. The purchase price is $15,000, reported below the appraisal figure by City Manager Harvey.

Authorized a grant agreement with the federal government for the installation of a water main west of S. 23rd St., extending to Sylvan Point and Old State Road.

Appointments Made

Appointed Robert Jensen, 116 S. 2nd St., to the Recreation Board to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. N. L. Lindquist.

Appointed Mrs. Victor Powers, 612 S. 12th St., to the Michigan State Council for the Arts to represent the community. She is an artist and teacher.

Accepted from the Trustees of Bay de Noc Community College a request for consideration of rezoning certain lands the College is to use for a campus, on U. S. 2-41 at the Danforth Road.

Established one and two years as terms for members of the Escanaba Citizens Advisory Committee and named Dale Anderson a member of the committee.

Authorized an expenditure of $950 to purchase fireworks for the Fourth of July celebration.

Accepted a recommendation by the city manager to construct a storm sewer to correct a drainage problem between 19th and 20th Sts. and 7th and 8th Aves.

Lectures At Hope

HOLLAND (AP) — Dutch explorer, author and lecturer Rolf Italiaander arrives at Hope College this weekend for ten days of public and class lectures at the college.

Deer Food In Short Supply

LANSING (AP)—Upper Peninsula deer will be threatened with starvation for at least the next two weeks, reports the State Conservation Department.

Department game experts would make no estimate of the Upper Peninsula potential deer loss except to say the toll "probably would be significant."

Deer have been confined in herding areas this winter about one-third longer than normal.

Recent spring thaws in the U. P. allowed deer to move to higher ground. No improvement in the food supply is expected, however, until the spring greenup starts.

Deer losses in the northern Lower Peninsula, the game men said, will be mostly confined to overbrowsed areas where there are too many deer for the natural food supply.

Educator Dies

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Prof. Johannes Broene, former Calvin college president, died at his home in Chicago. He was 91. He was president in 1928-30 and in 1939-40 school year. He retired as a psychology and education teacher in 1951. Broene won note for his book, "The Philosophy of Friedrich Nietzche", published before World War I.

GLADSTONE

Chancel Players At Covenant On Sunday Evening

The Chancel Players of Green Bay, Wisconsin, will present "Christ in the Concrete City," a dramatic play on the passion of Jesus Christ, on Sunday April 9th, 7:30 p.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church. "Christ in the Concrete City" is an attempt to set forth dramatically the meaning of the passion in words and images understandable by the ordinary people of a modern industrial city.

The play is being sponsored by the Luther League of the First Lutheran Church and the Co-Hi youth organization of the Evangelical Covenant Church. Kristen Olson will lead the service, with Susan Schram reading the Scripture. The Rev. Loren Anderson and the Rev. Rueben Carlson will also participate in the service.

The Chancel Players, Rev. Frank Gaylord, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Seiler and Philip Smith, have given performances in the United Church of Christ, Presbyterian, Methodist, Moravian, Lutheran, Baptist, and Catholic churches of Green Bay, and in churches in Two Rivers, Ephraim, Oconto, Appleton, Neenah, Sturgeon Bay, DePere, Kaukauna, Brillion, Green Lake, Kenosha, Lakeland College, St. Norbert College, University of Wisconsin, Green Bay Campus, and for various youth rallies. The public is cordially invited to attend the presentation. A free will offering will be received to cover the expenses for the evening performance.

Briefly Told

State Police issued traffic summonses Thursday to William Houle, Rte. 1, Gladstone, no registration or proof of insurance; Donald Lambert, Rte. 1, Gladstone, defective muffler.

A breaking and entering at Sally's Cabins on U. S. 2 in Nahma Township is under investigation by State Police. Officers said a shed was entered and one of the cabins was open, but whether or not anything is missing has not been determined. Owner of the cabins is Sally Sayer, Detroit. The breaking and entering was reported by the caretaker.

Attend Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Vogt, 1218 Dakota Ave., left Thursday for Mandato, Minn., where they will attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Mary Odden on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simon and son, Jon, of Waukeshaw, will meet them in Minneapolis and will go to Mankato with them.

Social

Retired Teachers

The Retired Teachers Association will hold a regular meeting at the Evangelical Covenant Church, 305 S. 9th St., at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Refreshments will be served after the business meeting.

Loyalty Day

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed May 1 as Loyalty Day, May 1-7 as Children's Asthma Week and May 21-27 as National Insurance Women's Week.

Eddy's Earns Dartball Title

Eddy's captured the championship of the Gladstone Dartball League tournament, defeating Arcadia in the finals. Frank's downed Wally's in the consolation game.

Jake Bink and Joe Winters shared the tourney batting title with .539 averages.

Eddy's and Arcadia will meet in a seven game series to determine the winner of the traveling trophy.

The annual banquet will be held April 22 at the Gladstone Legion Hall. All guest tickets must be purchased from sponsors before April 15.

Masters Tournament Underway

Trouble For Big Three; Clover For Bert Yancy

By BOB GREEN

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer went tromping through a muddy ditch. Jack Nicklaus floundered through woods and water. Billy Casper was bothered by the gusty, fickle winds.

But it was all clover for young Bert Yancy.

"It's a friendly course," the one-time West Point cadet said Thursday after forging a five-under-par 67 and taking a three-stroke lead in the first round of the 31st Masters Golf Tourney.

"It's a lovely course," Yancey continued after playing his first competitive round over the lush, flowery Augusta National course. A week ago he hadn't even seen the 6,980-yard, par 72 layout.

"Terrible," said Palmer, the only four-time champ and co-favorite with Nicklaus in the pre-tourney picking, who shot a 73.

"Not good," said Nicklaus, who has won the last two Masters' titles and had a first-round 72.

Limited Gallery

"Difficult," said Casper, the reigning U.S. Open champion who recovered for a solid 70.

"I love it," said Yancey.

But they agreed on one thing — 28-year-old Bert had played himself quite a round.

"I thought I'd do well," said Yancey, whose gallery on the first few holes consisted almost entirely of his mother, his father and his wife.

Casper, two over par in the early going, rallied with birdies on 8, 12, 16 and 18 and gained a share of second place with surprising Downing Gray, an amateur from Pensacola, Fla.

Tough old Julius Boros and Tony Jacklin, a 22-year-old English pro, were locked at 71 while Nicklaus and 10 others — including San Francisco amateur John Miller and veteran Sam Snead — were tied with 72s.

Hit Six Birdies

Yancey, a Tallahassee, Fla., native, had six birdies, one bogey, hit all 18 greens and 17 fairways in his excellent round.

Yancey came into his own on the pro tour last season, winning three tournaments and $42,938 after a series of earlier misfortunes and disappointments.

He entered West Point in 1957 and was captain of the golf team in 1960. Shortly after, in his senior year, he suffered a nervous breakdown and was discharged from the service after he was released from the hospital.

The husky, boyish-looking Yancey turned pro in 1961 and joined the tour the next year. He played in 11 tournaments, didn't win a cent and dropped out.

He rejoined the tour in 1964, but hadn't finished higher than 27th before winning the Azalea Open last year. He later added triumphs in the Memphis and Portland opens.

Palmer and Nicklaus were very critical of the course — but didn't offer it as an excuse. Palmer said the grass on the fairways was very deep "giving us a lot of grassy lies." Nicklaus made the same observation. "You can't put any spin on the ball," Jack said.

Trouble For Casper

Both also complained of the wind, tricky, shifting and gusty.

Casper had even more trouble. He bogeyed the first hole when, on the backswing for his second shot, a spectator's hat blew to within a yard of the ball, he jumped and flubbed the shot.

Nicklaus hooked into the woods on his first drive and was in a lake on 13, and Palmer found a ditch on the same hole.

But it wasn't all woes. Australian Bruce Devlin got only the second double eagle in the tournament's history, on the 530-yard eighth. After a big drive, he sent a four-wood to the front of the green, it bounced once and was in the cup.

The only other double eagle in the Masters came in 1935, when Gene Sarazen, the eventual winner, holed out with a 220-yard shot on the 15th.

Sarazen had a double bogey seven on that hole Thursday, then declined to turn in a card. So did Claude Harmon. Dick Mayer shot a 79 but was disqualified for failing to sign his card.

That cut the field to 80 for today's second round. It will be trimmed to the low 44 and all players within 10 shots of the leader for the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

GENE LITTLER explodes from the sand trap onto the No. 2 green at Augusta National Golf course Thursday as the first round of the Masters tournament got underway. Littler's ball, which he sank for a birdie on the hole, is visible against the bill of his cap. The streak through the center of the picture is the flag stick. (AP Wirephoto)

Check Hospital For Swim Star

DALLAS (AP) — They checked the hospital today to find out if one of the heralded stars, Greg Buckingham of the Santa Clara Swim Club, would be able to compete in the National AAU indoor swimming championship which rattled off three records without him Thursday night.

Buckingham, sensation of the NCAA meet, and holder of the record that fell in the event in which he was unable to compete, was reported to have a light case of food poisoning.

Dr. Lester L. Keyser, director of the SMU Health Center, said the star from Stanford University had fever, an upset stomach and diarrhea.

Buckingham swam in the afternoon preliminaries and was second in time. He even practiced at night but had to withdraw before the 500-yard freestyle started. He was defending champion in the event.

So Mike Burton of UCLA stepped out for victory in 4:37 minutes and that not only broke the recognized American and AAU records but tied a pending record set by Buckingham.

There were two other events during the opening program Thursday night and they also produced records.

Bill Utley of Indiana University successfully defended his 200-yard individual medley championship. His time of 1:55.9 cracked the American record by three-tenths of a second. It had been held by Roy Saari of Southern California.

The Santa Clara Swim Club won the 400-yard medley relay in 3:30.4, also a record, and moved into first place in the fight for the team championship.

Santa Clara Swim Club has 21 points, Southern California is second with 12. The individual events count 7-5-4-3-2-1 and the relays 14-10-8-6-4-2.

The only appearance of another heralded star, Don Schollander of Yale, who won four gold medals in the 1964 Olympic Games, was to do a lap with the Yale Varsity B team. He made up a lot of yards but couldn't quite get his team a place.

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP)—Jane (Peaches) Bartkowiez of Hamtramck, Mich., upset Jan Lehane of Australia 0-6, 6-4, 6-4 Thursday to gain the semifinals in women's singles of the Caribe Hilton Tennis Tournament.

Golf Vultures Perch At 12th Augusta Hole Where Disaster Lurks

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — They are golf's vultures.

They plant themselves at the 12th hole at Augusta National, munch sandwiches and chortle with sadistic glee as disaster tumbles on the shoulders of the Masters stars.

It is the shortest hole on the course — 155 yards — and the most dramatic. It's the hole where everything happens — usually bad.

And the fans love it.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," said Helen Weeks, a housewife from Sumter, S.C. She lets her husband wander over the course but she stays fixed on the hillside overlooking awesome No. 12.

"I just love to watch them go into the water," she added.

The hole is called the Golden Bell. It is a par three with a tight, hour-glass green. It is covered by water in front. There's a steep bank back of the green. A trap is at the front right and two are carved into the bank at the back.

In a low hollow, the green is whipped by gusty, tricky winds, making accuracy almost impossible.

Instead of apple blossoms and magnolia blooming in the back, it should be shrouded with funeral wreaths.

It is the Hole of Despair.

Former Masters champion Claude Harmon plunked his tee shot into the drink.

"That's No. 4," said George Smith of Cairo, Ga., keeping score on a big tab. There would be a dozen more marks on George's slate before the day was done, and George would be happy.

"Oh, look," exclaimed Mrs. Sam McFarland of Turbeville, S.C. "Art Wall has lost his ball."

Wall, approaching the green two-under-par, had put his tee shot into the heavy thicket back of the green.

"Snucks," mumbled a neighbor. "They found it."

A rumble of disappointment swept the crowd gathered on the small hill, forming a natural amphitheater.

Gay Brewer, two under through 11 holes, contributed to the day's joy by four-putting from the edge. Tom Bolt hit one into the mud, got on the edge of the green and then putted into a trap. He wound up with a six.

The sadists couldn't hide their delight.

This is the most popular area on the famous course. Two stands are usually almost fully occupied. The hillside is covered with picnic-style spectators.

They don't want to miss a shot. They bring their lunches and stay there from morning until night.

It's the climactic hole of the Masters — which brings either triumph or disaster.

It almost cost Jack Nicklaus the tournament in 1963. But it won for Arnold Palmer in 1960 when a ball embedded in the bank and a favorable ruling gave him a free lift — a three instead of a five.

Harmon aced the hole in 1947 and B. J. Hyndman in 1959. Once Sam Snead hit a ball into the water and then chipped into the cup. Dow Finsterwald took 11 strokes there in 1951.

The vultures got one of their biggest charges last year when Doug Sanders, dapperly attired in bright orange, almost fell into the water.

"I never felt more sadistic in my life," said Mrs. Richard Rendleman of Salisbury, N.C. "I wanted him to fall all the way in, orange shoes and all."

Horton Strains Muscle In Leg; To Miss Week

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A groan went up from the fans and the Detroit Tigers last night at the sight of Willie Horton down on his face at first base, writhing in agony.

But the slugging outfielder apparently will miss little more than a week of action with what was diagnosed as "extreme strain of the left calf muscle."

Horton singled in the first inning to drive home Don Wert with the only Tigers run as Boston beat Detroit 4-1 Thursday.

Horton dashed for first, began limping, then hobbling, and he finally collapsed. He reached for the base with his hand.

The muscle strain hit Horton on his first day back in action after being benched by a case with what doctors said was bursitis in his left Achilles tendon.

Describing the strain as "the worst thing I have had," Horton said, "It felt like when you get cut or something. I tried to make it to the base and had to crawl.

"I don't know how it happened," he said. "It might have come from trying to favor (the tendon) and not putting equal weight on both legs."

The Tigers failed to get another run although Jim Northrup banged two hits, one a double, and raised his spring average to .333.

Joe Sparma started for the Tigers and allowed only one hit in five innings. Then rookie George Korince came on in the sixth. He walked two men, made a wild pitch and gave up a double to Tony Conigliaro and a single to George Scott, allowing three runs.

Boston got one more off Hank Aguirre in the ninth on an error, a sacrifice fly and a single by Scott.

Manager Mayo Smith cut rookie Tommy Matchick and Dave Campbell from the roster and sent them to Toledo of the International League.

That left him with 29 men, one more than he is allowed for the season opener at Los Angeles Tuesday.

He carried four catchers in camp, Bill Freehan, Chris Cannizzaro, Orlando McFarlane and Alex Bransberg.

One will have to go, but there are rumors of a trade and Smith won't say which catchers he is. Freehan is playing.

The Tigers were off today and open the Grapefruit League season Saturday and Sunday in a game with Boston.

Gates Brown, who is recovering from a bruised left heel, probably will start the regular season left field in place of Horton.

Mickey Stanley has a twisted ankle and Jake Wood has been filling his spot in the outfield.

Pick Orioles, Pirates For World Series

By The Associated Press

Baltimore and Pittsburgh in the 1967 World Series.

So say 138 sports writers and broadcasters in the Associated Press' annual pre-season poll. The Orioles were chosen on 83 ballots and the Pirates drew 85 first-place votes.

On the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for a second and so on, the Orioles had 1,300 points in the American League voting and the Pirates collected 1,289 in the National League count.

Minnesota was picked to finish second in the American League followed by Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, California, New York, Kansas City, Boston and Washington.

San Francisco was figured to take second in the National League followed by Atlanta, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Cincinnati, Houston, New York and Chicago.

Favorites Win First Games In Hockey Playoff

By The Associated Press

Chicago and Montreal, as expected, hold 1-0 leads today following their opening games in best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs Thursday.

But it was a lot easier for the Black Hawks than the Canadiens.

Chicago, the National Hockey League's regular season champions, walloped Toronto 5-2 while Montreal staged a furious last-period rally and topped New York 6-4.

The Canadiens, defending Cup champions, host New York in the second game of their series Saturday afternoon before a national television audience. Chicago and Toronto resume their series Sunday.

Dennis DeJordy kicked out 42 Toronto shots and the Black Hawks got goals from Stan Mikita, the NHL scoring champ, arch-legged Bobby Hull, Pierre Pilote, Ken Wharram and Lou Angotti.

Hull, who scored 52 goals during the regular season but missed the final three games with strained ligaments in his left knee, complained after the game that he felt "like a man of 80."

Frank Mahovlich and Jim Pappin hit for Toronto.

The Rangers held a 4-1 lead midway through the third period on a pair of goals by Red Gilbert and one each by Boom Boom Geoffrion and Vic Hadfield.

But the Canadiens roared back. Claude Provost jammed a goal under Ed Giacomin from close in and less than a half-minute later, J. C. Tremblay made it 4-3. Then John Ferguson's shot bounced off two Rangers and past Giacomin, tying the score.

Ralph Backstrom's second goal of the night put Montreal on top and Jean Beliveau wrapped it up with less than two minutes remaining.

"They just kept coming," said Emile Francis. "It's funny how a game can change so fast. We had control of it until the Canadiens got rolling. They were like a brush fire then."

Estrada Perfect In Comeback Bid As New York Mets Trip Cardinals

By The Associated Press

Chuck Estrada was perfect—and that might be just good enough to get him back into the major leagues.

The veteran right-hander retired all 12 men he faced Thursday night in the New York Mets' 2-1 10-inning victory over St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Estrada, listed on the roster of the Mets' Williamsport farm club in the Eastern League, most likely will move up to the parent club on the basis of his fine showing.

The former member of the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs, who spent most of last season with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League, didn't pitch this spring until two weeks ago because of a blister on his index finger. The Mets obtained him from Vancouver for about $20,000.

Estrada got the victory when Jerry Grote doubled home Jerry Buchek in the bottom of the 10th. Don Cardwell pitched the first six innings for New York, giving up three hits and striking out six. Bob Gibson yielded one run on five hits and struck out eight in going seven innings for St. Louis.

Woody Held's two-run double capped a three-run 10th-inning burst as Baltimore beat Minnesota 6-3 in a night game at Orlando, Fla., and the Chicago Cubs whipped the Chicago White Sox 8-4 under the lights at Arlington, Tex.

In day games, Washington outfumbled the New York Yankees but still won 5-2; California edged San Francisco 1-0; Atlanta slugged Houston 9-2; Boston topped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City trounced Philadelphia 11-3 and Cleveland routed Cincinnati 11-4.

Larry Haney hit a two-run homer and Frank Robinson connected with the bases empty for Baltimore. Bob Allison doubled in two runs for Minnesota.

fourth, including two on a single

The Cubs got five runs in the by pitcher Ken Holtzman, in beating their city rival.

Washington's Joe Coleman pitched five hitless innings before giving up a run in the sixth in the Senators' victory over the Yankees at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Washington committed five errors and the Yankees three, including first baseman Mickey's Mantle's first of the spring.

George Brunet and Bill Kelso combined to shut out San Francisco for the Angels at Fresno, Calif. Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly in the sixth drove in the game's only run.

Eddie Mathews' two-run homer in the sixth sparked Houston past Los Angeles at Wichita, Kan. Rusty Staub followed Mathews' homer with one of his own. Both blows came off Don Drysdale.

Boston scored three times in the sixth — twice on Tony Conigliaro's double and once on George Scott's single in beating Detroit at Lakeland, Fla. Willie Horton suffered a severe strain of his left calf muscles while running out a single which drove in Detroit's only run. He will be sidelined for 12 days.

Ed Charles hit a three-run homer in the third for Kansas City, which also scored six runs in the sixth against Philadelphia at Bradenton, Fla.

Not Worried, Claim Palmer And Nicklaus

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, the pre-tourney favorites in the Masters Golf Tourney, aren't exactly delighted with their positions in the field — but they aren't worried.

Nicklaus, who has won the last two Masters, shot a first-round par 72 Thursday while Palmer, the only four-time champion, had a 73.

That put them five and six shots, respectively, back of first-round leader Bert Yancey.

"Six shots," mused Palmer. "Well, it's not a good position, but it certainly isn't a position from which you couldn't recover."

Nicklaus, asked if he was more concerned about being in a tie for fifth place or five strokes back, replied:

"Neither. I'm not worried about eithe rone of them. I'm just not worried."

Cannonball Train May Be Scrapped

DETROIT (AP) — "The Death of the Wabash Cannonball" may be the next song you hear.

The Norfolk & Western Railroad has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to discontinue the "Cannonball," a Detroit-to-St. Louis passenger train, on May 10.

"The Wabash Cannonball" has been a part of American folklore since the turn of the century. A song about her was sung even before there was any such train, according to the late railroad historian Lucius Beebe.

The music hall ballad, "The Wabash Cannonball," remains a favorite today among country and western singers. The train, however, according to the N. & W. is no where near as popular as the song and is a money loser.

Even if the "Cannonball goes, though, the city from which it got its name — Wabash, Ind.— still will get service from the one train daily that still will operate between St. Louis and Detroit.

GM Gets TVA Truck Contract

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — General Motors Corp. has been awarded a contract for up to 48 crew-carrying trucks for the Tennessee Valley Authority, TVA said here.

The maximum price for the trucks will be $66,069, the authority said.

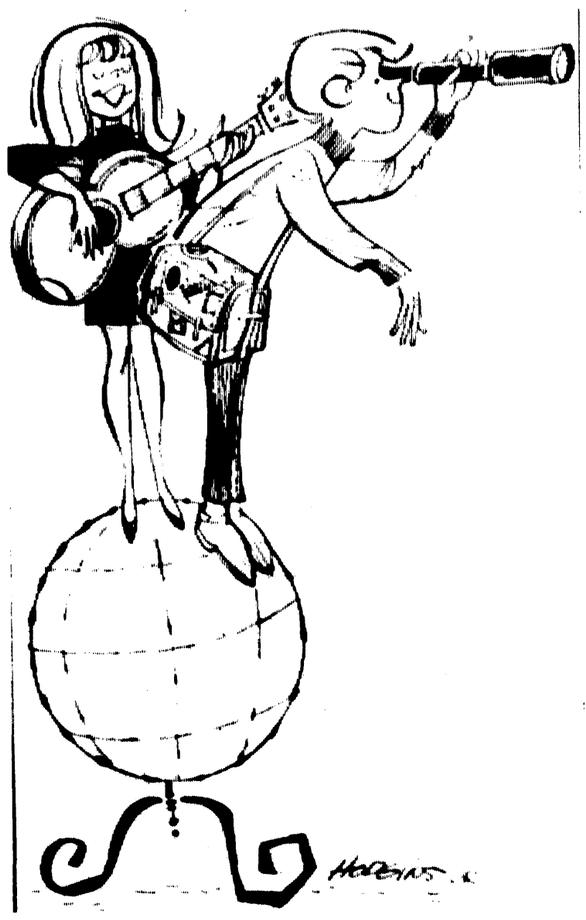
Merrell Heads Cemetery Board

DETROIT (AP) — Andrew D. Merrell, 57, manager of Clover Hill Park Cemetery, has been named chairman of the State Cemetery Commission.

Merrell, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Cemetery Association, will supervise after July 1 the registering of all privately owned cemeteries and licensing of salesmen in Michigan.

Nearly 300,000 Students Planning Foreign Jaunts

By SALLY RYAN



NEW YORK, (AP) — Nearly 300,000 college students will pack their phrase books, bikinis and guitars for trips abroad this summer. Even little brothers and sisters will join the exodus.

"It's just snowballing," said James E.A. Glendinning, director of the National Student Association's tour program, Educational Travel, Inc.

He predicted that student travel would be up 15 to 20 per cent over last year.

The State Department issued passports to 324,180 persons aged 15 to 25 last year, up from 217,110 in 1965, and 48,970 youngsters aged 10 to 14 obtained passports, up from 37,180.

The number of younger travelers has increased so much that Arista, which bills itself as America's largest student travel organization, now splits its group into teen-agers (15-17), collegiates (17-21) and young adults (21-23).

Hundreds of other travel agencies, colleges and airlines are setting up tours and seminars for young people. They may study political science in Czechoslovakia or chamber music in Germany.

Most first trippers still go to Europe, but the number traveling to the Far East, particularly Japan, has been increasing, the council on student travel reports.

The council has chartered a ship to make 10 all-student transatlantic crossings this summer, with open-air language classes, panel discussions on civil rights, jazz sessions and warnings about shipboard romance.

The National Student Association has lined up tours and study programs that cost from $765 for three weeks in Europe to $1,85 for more than seven weeks.

The tours cater to students with fondue parties with Swiss students in Zurich, dances at the Danish students' club in Copenhagen and an evening at a student inn in Heidelberg.

The number of American colleges and institutions sponsoring foreign study programs more than doubled from 103 in 962 to 208 in 1965, the council reports. In 1950 there were only 6.

Stanford University now reaches out from its California campus to administer year-around study centers or campuses in Japan, Formosa, Italy, France and Germany.

Cadillac Rides Big Sales Boom

DETROIT (AP) — Cadillac division is unique in automotive circles so far this year—it does not pass out crying towels with its sales reports.

Unlike practically every other auto division, including the other four automotive divisions of the GM family, Cadillac sales have been running ahead of the 1966 model year pace.

Its 7,800 production workers have not been bothered by production shutdowns and showdowns troubling other carmakers whose sales have been slow.

The only short work weeks Cadillac had this model year came in February and March as a result of a strike at a key Mansfield, Ohio, plant which cut off vital parts for the Cadillac assembly lines.

Asked how Cadillac had managed to buck the tide of declining sales and growing inventories of unsold new cars, Cadillac general manager Calvin J. Werner replied with a big smile, "I would say it is the combination of our fine car and a loyal customer group."

Werner pointed to sales reports for the six month period from October, 1966 through March of this year. The chart showed a record high 112,940 Cadillacs sold in that period. The old record of 107,718 was set in the comparable months of the 1966 model run.

"Naturally we are delighted that Cadillac sales continue on the upswing and we are pretty optimistic about the spring buying market for the whole industry," he said in an interview.

"I spent a lot of time visiting dealers in the New York area last week and everyone of our men were optimistic about the auto sales picture," Werner said.

The GM vice president said of Cadillac's overall approach to the sales market:

"We do not talk too much about the 'youth market' for after all, the Cadillac is priced so that not many young people just getting started in business would buy one. We do not want them to think it is stodgy or old fashioned in styling for we are convinced nothing on the road is any fancier.

"We like to think of them as potential customers for a Cadillac one day. We know that right now we are the 'king of the hill' in the auto business and that means everyone is shooting at us. We want to stay on top."

Werner said a recent survey of Cadillac's 1,640 dealers showed cars were in short supply.

Prison Industries Lack Laborers

A strange paradox continues to exist at Michigan's three major prisons. Even though crime is on the increase, there is a decrease in the number of inmates, resulting in a serious labor shortage in prison industries.

"The greater use of probation, shorter sentences and faster parole have resulted in a scarcity of workers," said George H. Holmes, supervisor of Michigan Prison Industries.

"In 1961-62, we had 1,523 inmates on our industries payroll," he reported. "By 1965-66, the figure had dropped to 1,112. "Today, it is approximately 817, or about 20 per cent of the available total inmate population at the state prisons.

Progress

BOSTON (AP) — The First National Bank of Boston was founded in 1784. Its assets reached $1 billion in 59 years. Nineteen years later, in 1961, assets had grown to $2 billion. This year the bank and its allied Old Colony Trust Co. announced assets of $3 billion.

Nevada Makes Divorce Easier

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A new law makes divorces easier in Nevada, the pioneer in quick divorce.

Gov. Paul Laxalt signed Thursday a measure adding incompatibility as a ground and reducing from three years to one the time required for a divorce on grounds of separation.

Attorneys backing the bill argued that incompatibility would be a more realistic ground for divorce than "extreme cruelty."

Nevada reduced its residency requirement for divorce to six weeks in 1931, the same year it legalized casino gambling.

Powers-Spalding To Host District Forensics Meet

The District 5 Forensics Festival will be held at Powers-Spalding High School Thursday, April 13, starting at 2:30 p. m. (EST).

Participating schools and coaches are: Bark River-Harris, Mrs. D. Williams; Menominee, Edward Malechuck; Norway-Vulcan, John Secinaro; Powers-Spalding, Mary Sogard.

Judges will be John Romstad of Bay de Nee Community College and Peter Adamini of the Escanaba Area High School. The timekeepers will be Marlene Harris and Peter Kleiman.

Categories in which the students participate are original oratory, declamation, dramatic monologue, dramatic dialogue, narrative reading, extempore speech, radio news commentary, multiple reading and lyric poetry reading.

Students from Powers-Spalding taking part include Joyce Hanchek, Dawn Beauchamp, Judy Fazer, Ron Hanson, Paula Murray, Dianne Smith, Linda Johnson, Linda LeBoeuf, Cindy Lynch and Dorothy Behrend.

The public is welcome to attend the festival.

The Palace of the Popes still stands in Avignon, France. The city served as the papal seat for 70 years.

Scotland Yard Hires PR Man

LONDON, (AP) — For the first time in its history Scotland Yard, the heart of Britain's police, has acquired a top public relations man.

George D. Gregory, who for the last nine years has been promoting a soft drinks firm, bottlers of ginger ale, tonic water and the like, moved onto the scene just as Scotland Yard moved early in March from its turreted home on the banks of the Thames to a modern glass and steel building near Westminster Abbey.

He is a part of the Yard's move into modern times, along with the computerized police station use of radio, radar and scientific analysis, and modern communications.

For six months he intends to study, read, watch, meet people, and then strike out with an active program.

He wants to know the multiple jobs the Metropolitan Police do, the points of friction with the public, the best ways to recruit the best men, and the best ways to sell the bobbies to the people who pay the bill.

In time the job will involve perhaps advertising, close contact with the press, radio and television, and creation of an atmosphere to lift Scotland Yard out of insular thinking while still preserving the secrecy and security any police force lives by.

As a naval officer for 22 years, a civilian in government departments, and then a public relations man, Gregory, 53, is outspoken, highly vocal, and quite unafraid to take on anything new.

"I am still amazed in this short time to find out just how many jobs the police do," he said. "Only five per cent of the public ever have any contact with the police and they don't really know what he is doing."

He has already decided that the policeman on the beat is the heart of London's law enforcement—"he is seen, and that is what matters."

Hiking Trails Help

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White says places for safe hiking and bicycle riding would help attract foreign tourists to Massachusetts. And besides, the heart specialist says, bicycle riding and hiking are good for the heart.

Chorus Enters U.P. Festival

Holy Name High School's 80-voice girls chorus will travel to Northern Michigan University at Marquette Saturday to participate in the Upper Peninsula School Music Association festival.

James McKelvy of the NMU faculty is in charge of judging the competition, which is scheduled for Kaye Auditorium.

The Holy Name chorus will sing, "Let There Be Song," by Gustav Klemm; "Unto His Holy Name Sing Praises," by Bach, and "The Sweetheart Tree," by Henry Mancini.

Director of the chorus is Mrs. Donald LeMire.

The choral music and drama departments are also putting finishing touches on the musical "Guys and Dolls," which will be presented April 9, 10, 11 and 12 in the multi-purpose room of the school. Tickets may be obtained from any Holy Name student or by calling 786-7550.

CAUSED FLOOD

Rebels besieging Kaifeng, China, in 1642, destroyed the city's seawall, causing a flood that drowned an estimated 300,000 inhabitants.
